Foreword

The Class of 1924 takes great pleasure in presenting to you, gentle reader, this volume of the Quittapahilla.

In presenting this issue the aim has been twofold. We have tried to record as faithfully as possible the facts and events of the year, that you may see what has been accomplished in the classroom, the organization halls and the athletic field. We have also tried to collect the less serious incidents of college life which will increase in value as our college memories become golden memories. If in your estimation we have fallen short of the confidence you have intrusted in us, may you temper your judgment with a gracious acceptance of our human frailness. With a peace of mind that comes from honest effort, and a clear conscience, we present this volume confident that it will make dearer your friendships and strengthen your love for our Alma Mater.

To
Christian R. Gingrich

A. B. LL. B.

Professor of Political Science and Economics

In sincerest appreciation of his unselfish efforts toward a better
Lebanon Valley College, and
his kind interest in the welfare of the students, this volume of the Quittapahilla is respectfully dedicated.

The Song of the Quittie

Hark! Within my sparkling depths
Lie stories long untold,
Of youthful maids with burnished skin
And warriors brave and bold.

All these have long since passed away,
Their tales I only know,
The tales of love, the hunt and war,
They told me long ago.

Others have come since they have gone.
A tribe I long to see,
The dearest friends I've ever had.
The students of L. U. C.

Williams have changed to massive halls,
Couches are no more,
But life remains and is the same,
As in those days of yore.

When the long, long day is over,
And shades of evening fall,
They gather in the twilight,
In answer to my call.

And they tell me all their troubles,
Joys, sorrows, toil and care,
Thus they tell me of their college,
And all that is found there.

Administration Building

Within these walls the chiefs assembled,
Teach daily without fail,
The Crafts and Arts, that braves may learn
Knowledge of the unbroken trail.

Conservatory

Depths of Nature flow forth gently,
On the silvery sounds,
And they seem to hear the spirit
To Happy Hunting Grounds.

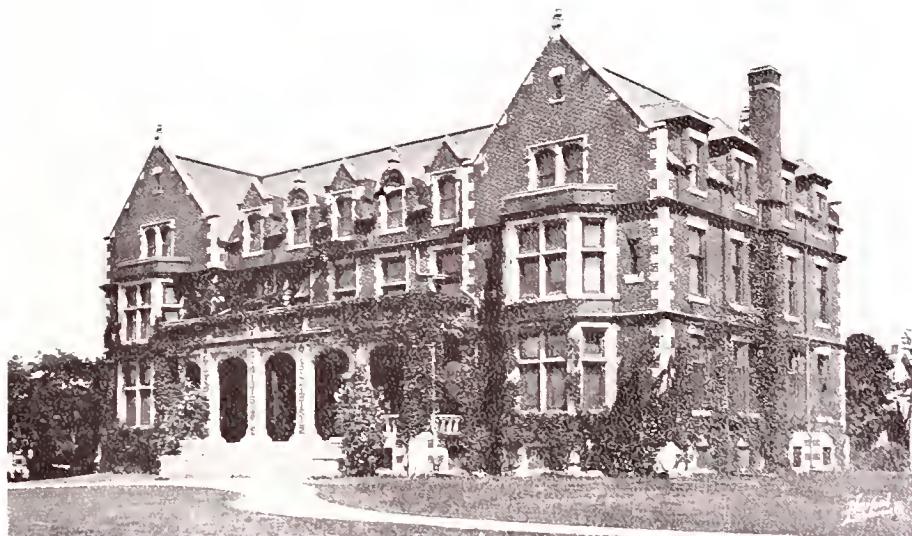

Church

Here they worship that Great Spirit,
Guardian of every thing
Maker, Keeper, Gracious Father,
Savior, Prince, Lord and King.

Library

Parchments tell their wondrous stories,
Of science, love and war,
Of all those things which are to come,
And all that went before.

Girls' Dormitory

Here maidens spend their leisure hours
Working, playing, dreaming,
Till evening comes when they steal to my side
In the light of the full moon dreaming.

Boys Dormitory

Youths of all tribes assembled here,
From the east and from the west,
In a life of laughter and work and fun,
Great knowledge is their Quest.

South Hall

Oldest of all these classic halls
In this loveliest village they say,
Here too, dwell carefree girls for a time,
Ere they step into life's long way.

Campus View

Naught have I seen of these storied halls,
For I wander far from their side,
But the students tell me of all they do,
As they gather at eventide.

In the first Spring days, ere the trees are green,
They walk close by my side,
Or sit gazing into my sparkling depths,
That are clear and deep and wide.

Or they stand on the bridge that high above
Looks down on the mill wheels I turn,
On the greenland banks so deep and cool
All moss, and flower and fern.

They walk hand in hand by my waters edge,
And whisper their mutual love,
When the air is still and the night birds call,
While the moon sails high above.

When summertime, with its throbbing sun,

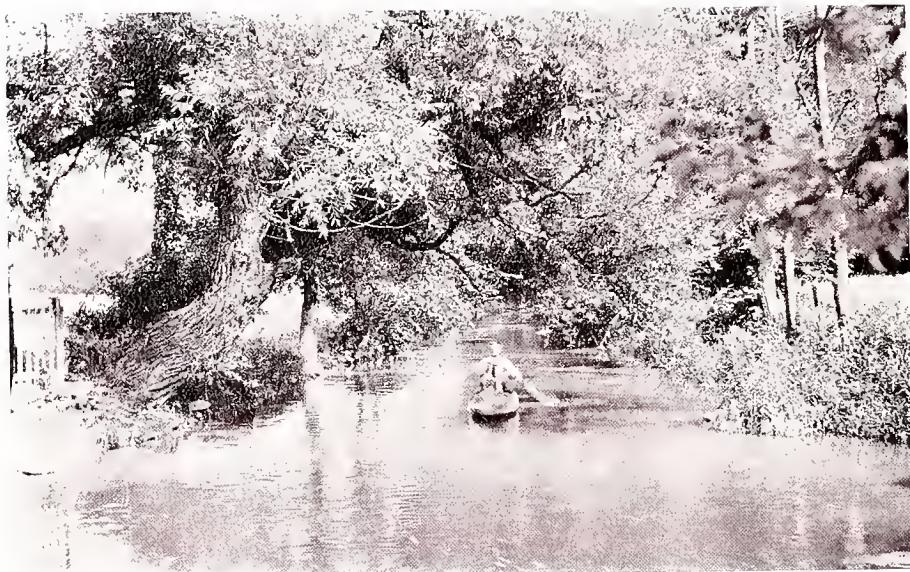

Turus rich hues to a duller glow,

I hear no more those folks by my side,

And I know not where they go.

But when autumn comes, all gold and red,
They gather round me once more,
Softly they glide in their birch canoes,
Away from the grassy shore.

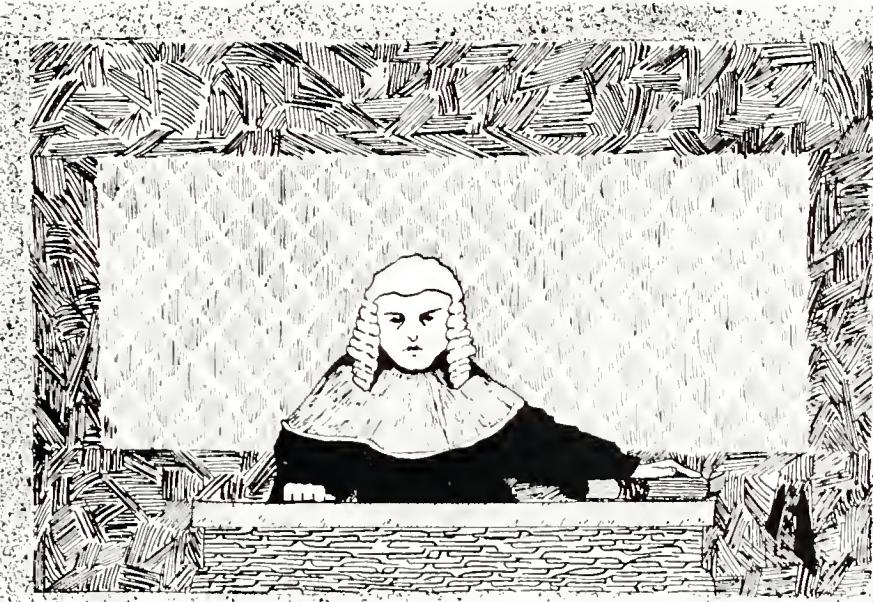

The long afternoons speed swiftly by
As I weave round them my spell,
And the tales I whisper softly to them,
No mortal man can tell.

Then winter brings his cold and snow
And with chains of ice holds me fast.
He stills the song that I fain would sing
Till spring sets me free at last.

And thus each year leads on to the next,
As I flow from springlet to the sea,
So God guide their barks to the sea of Success,
These students of L. U. C.

Dr. George Daniel Gossard

The President's Message

The world needs men and women who are able to think things through and bring things to pass. Men who can think, and will, and execute, are at a premium in these days of complex industrial conditions.

With national jealousies so keen and powerful, with secret treaties and policies built on selfishness and ungodly ambitions, with individuals and mighty corporations in many places striving to rise that they may control men and nations, with nations at each other's throats, well may we ask, "Who is able to lend to safe and sane foundations for all?" or "What shall the end of these things be?"

From every walk of life there must come leaders who "Love what God loves and hate what God hates;" men who think clearly, act fearlessly, work righteously; men "whose hearts God has touched."

The Christian College and the Christian Church must produce such men. These are "the salt of the earth," "the light of the world."

This is the opportunity and privilege of the Christian College and the obligation of the Christian Church. Will these accept the challenge?

Senior Class History

OME fourscore lads and lasses of high type and fine calibre met at Lebanon Valley College in September, 1919, to form that honorable organization, the Class of 1923. The first class to enter the institution after the signing of the Armistice, this group necessarily carried with it the spirit of patriotism and zeal characteristic of the war period. In every phase of college life, and in all the activities, the members of the Class of 1923 took with them their splendid spirit of honor. Honor to those other classes that had gone before them, honor to the untainted name of the beloved Alma Mater.

As an average class this group won and lost class games, always with the spirit of unselfishness and honor. As one looks back over the four years of development and growth there are many things upon which the Class of 1923 might have improved. But that which is done cannot be undone, and we look forward eagerly to the classes who will in the future profit by our experiences. The road to high standing scholastically, morally and socially is necessarily a rough one and only those who press forward to the goal eagerly, will achieve it.

In four years at Lebanon Valley College our numbers have decreased to such an extent that at Commencement time in 1923 about one-third of the original number will graduate. Nevertheless, the indomitable spirit of the Class of 1923 exists and will exist until the "Memory of man runneth not to the contrary."

As embryo ministers, teachers, lawyers and physicians, this group of promising young men and women are going into the world to become eminent leaders and splendid followers. The challenge sent down through so many classes of other days, the challenge for which so many of our Americans gave their lives upon the field of battle, the challenge of "Brotherhood Among Mankind Everywhere" will live in the hearts of the sons and daughters of '23 for many a day.

So as the Class of 1923 leaves its "footprints on the sands of time," it sends out the challenge to "Live the Spirit of Lebanon Valley College" always

"In perfect contentment she follows her nose."

To L. U. C.

Eagerly yet half reluctant, childlike but submissive still
We must do that which we would not and obey another's will.

In the onward march of centuries and the maddened race of Time,
We are caught and borne far onward, ever in an untried clime.

We have lost our Freshman greenness
And our Sophomore knowledge too
All our Junior tasks are over,
And our Senior days are through.

Time may sever our relations,
Distances may lead the way,
To dispersion of our sorrows,
And the damping of that day.

When our eager hearts have wandered,
But their longings shall have ceased,
And we return to Alma Mater,
For a welcome, wholesome peace.

For a peace that brings true friendship,
Blightis all enmity and pain;
Petty jealousies and anger,
And unites us once again.

But why can't we beat time to it?
It may scatter us for aye,
Let us each be true and faithful,
Ere we go upon our way.

True to every law and precept,
Of our noble L. U. C.
True to every individual,
Of dear old twenty-three.

Thus we leave thee, Alma Mater, all too soon the ending came,
Grim realities await us.—Honor? Fortune? Failure? Fame?

Yet we're eager for the conflict; confident that Memory
Will ever keep us true to Lebanon Valley and dear old twenty-three.

Junior Chronicle

ND it came to pass that in the ninth month of the year of our Lord nineteen hundred and twenty, that institution called the College of Lebanon Valley was again opened for a period. And many young men and maidens came from the regions round about seeking knowledge, wisdom and love at that selfsame College. And their deeds were diligently watched by the inhabitants of the place, lest they should in any way transgress against the Holy Laws and Customs. And there arose tempters who sought to discourage them in their search for knowledge by scornings and diverse punishments. The strangers did therefore come together in a secret place that they might devise means of putting these tempters to rout. And they were called the Class of '24.

Ere many days had passed the men of the new tribe met in mighty combat with these tempters, also called Sophomores, and they did rout them, so that the Class of '24 and their friends rejoiced greatly. Yet in that same year did certain men of the warring tribes meet on the banks of a stream, which is called "Quittie" and they did test their strength upon an hempen rope. The men of '24 did pull valiantly, but Fate was against them and they suffered defeat. But they did not discourage for other contests were to come.

And it came to pass that as the Class of '24 became more familiar with the land and its peoples they waxed more confident, so that in the next battle with the Sophomores, in a game which is called football, they did defeat them and put them to shame. And so was it in the following year. They did show themselves possessed of great skill and valor, for never did they suffer defeat upon that field. And as they grew in might other tribes entered the institution, likewise seeking knowledge. And the men of '24 did teach them that there is no royal road to learning, for they did show them the worth of humbleness and obedience. And when the men in high authority saw that there was great spirit and valor among the members of '24 they did enlist them to engage in contests with other institutions, and it is written that they labored mightily to uphold the honor of Lebanon Valley. And as they grew in power and favor, and the years passed, the tribes which were before passed out again into the world and the Class of '24 became second in importance at Lebanon Valley.

Then did they make peace with their enemies, the Class of '23, and they did join together that they might teach the younger tribes the Laws and Customs, even as they had learned them. And it is written that they ruled wisely and justly and the people did prosper.

Thus it is written of the deeds of the Class of '24. And is it not written in the records of the Registrar how the men and maidens of '24 did increase in wisdom and knowledge each year, yea each semester? And it is prophesied that the glory and valor of this tribe shall be proclaimed by their descendants to their children's children.

Blessed are they of the tribe of '24.

We all like "Bob." Before joining our ranks he was a "four-square, dyed-in-the-wool military man" at West Point, and he is still holding true to the spirit they instill into men at that institution. "Bob" always has a smile for every one and he isn't always angry when his face reddens—it's because he blushes easily and perhaps he does it to match his hair.

Now here's a young fellow named "Bob,"

I soldier he'd be—not a goob,

But now you can see

A Doctor he'll be,

And sure that's enough of a job.

"Mike" has valiantly supported the honor of '24 in the "gym" and on the field. He also holds a front seat in the classroom. Having a well developed sense of humor, he is noted as one of our "wise-crackers" having a fluent line which flows freely under all conditions. It works equally well in the classroom or on the campus, and with both sexes. As a result he has cut quite a swath among the fair co-eds. With these characteristics of a successful salesman, we predict a brilliant future for him in the shoe business.

MARY B. HERSHEY
Myerstown, Pa.
MODERN LANGUAGE D. L. S.

There are few in the class of '24 who have just the right degree of everything, as has Mary. She has good looks, an attractive disposition, a brilliant intellect, and is, incidentally, one of our best students.

*Dance and forget all your worries—
Laugh and forget all your woes—
Sing and help others lose sight of
How rotten this old world goes,
This is the rule that I use;
It has never gone back on me yet,
So when you are blue, just remember—
Dance—laugh—sing—and forget.*

HENRY L. HOMAN

Lebanon, Pa.

HISTORICAL-POLITICAL

K. L. S.

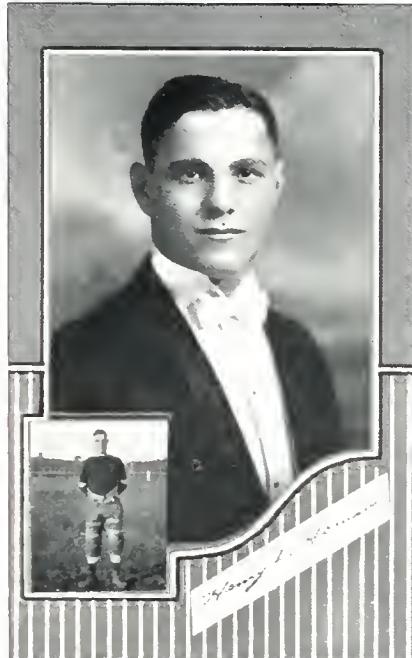

We proudly hail "Henny" as our star quarterback, and he is largely responsible for the splendid showing of the Blue and White against several of the strongest teams in the East.

But "Henny," not content with that, also shines in basketball, baseball, and especially in tennis. Harry's chief fault lies in not appreciating fully the distinguishing feature of a co-educational institution. But there's still hope for him in his Senior year.

*Twinkle, twinkle, little star,
How they wonder where you are,
Running down the field so fast—
Don't even see you till you're past,*

Honors — College: Football (1, 2, 3); Basketball (1, 2, 3); Baseball (1, 2, 3). Captain (3).

Class: Football (1, 2); Basketball (1, 2); Baseball (1, 2).

ELIZABETH M. HOPPLE

Classical

C. L. S.

Here's a lass with a heart of gold and a ready smile for every one. Her power of gentleness is irresistible. She expects to make Africa the field for her life's work, which makes us almost envious of these little blacks. We do not deem it safe for a girl to go to the foreign field alone, but don't worry about "Zilby," she'll be safe.

*To a pal, a friend,
A girl true blue,
'24 now give best wishes true,
In other words—Elizabeth,
To you.*

K. L. S.

"Jawn's" chief occupation during the winter is reading the sporting columns, and in spring chasing pop-ties around third base. He has upheld the honor of the class in most of the interclass contests. He possesses a line which works freely, and he usually holds his own in the Toreador contests staged in the Boys' Dorm.

*Under the wide and open sky,
Make me a bed and let me lie,
And I'll sleep all day with a will,
This be the word you say to me—
A good, all around man is he,
When all is quiet and still.*

"Bobby" is a day student, and in fact a real student. He possesses a divine blush which he very often employs, for he is easily embarrassed. "Bobby" is a favorite, and a friend of every one.

You'll agree, we never have seen,
For no other lad can smile like that—
Sure, and it's "Bobby" that we mean.*

"Midge" and good sport are interchangeable terms. These two words characterize her disposition, her actions—a good sport, A true friend, and a basketball star. And would you believe it—she wants to be a scientist? Who said science was a dry subject?

*She just can't resist making eyes at the men,
But that is no sin—especially when
You make 'em like Midge can certainly do.
And they say that Cleopatra was red-headed, too.*

Honors—College: Varsity Basketball (2, 3); Eurydice (1, 2).

"Froggie," as one might judge from his photograph, is a universal favorite. "Every body loves 'em." But "Fat's" forte is football, where he is a star of the first magnitude. As acting Captain during a considerable part of last season he was largely responsible for putting fight and spirit into the team. We are looking forward to great things from him on the gridiron next fall.

*Does no one love a fat man?
Well, I'll soon be a winner,
For day by day, in every way,
I'm getting thinner and thinner.*

Honors—College: Football (2, 3), Captain-elect (3).
Class: Volleyball (2, 3); Football (2); Basketball (3).

CHARLES C. LEBER

P. L. S.

"Hinkey," Rudolph Valentino's closest competitor, has for a long time had a corner on the male beauty of the Junior Class. He is also noted as possessing the fewest text-books of any student in school. His specialty is History, of which his knowledge is remarkable, as it contains many original facts heretofore unknown. He is especially strong on the discovery of America in 1789.

*A perfect figure, a perfect face,
A perfect laugh, a perfect grace,
A perfect lover—ah! that line,
That sends a thrill up the girlies' spine;
A perfect smile, so sweet and coy—
When all is said—a perfect boy.*

A student, methinks,
Good looking?
Yes; and, say, we might.
That an all around boy is Herman
Light.*

MODERN LANGUAGE; MUSIC C. L. S.

"Bob" arrived at L. V. from Hood at the beginning of our Junior year. But it's a very striking fact that "Bob" has made as many friends as we old-timers, and has won hearts, too. She is also a musician of the highest order. She surely believes in liking her "enemies," for instance, members of the Soph. Class.

*The men, the men, then bother my life,
I'll never be happy until I'm a wife;
Now this one I love, now him over there,
Now this one in blue, or him with red hair.
These men, these men, I really can't see
What they cannot stop bothering me.*

"Fat" is the second of the three Martins to nest here at L. V. C. He has made himself famous by his genial and easy-going disposition. However, in the Junior play he starred as a nervous wreck and demonstrated to us his mastery of the smoking habit. Fat knows all the by-paths and lanes which make the "Quittie" famous, but he is a student, too, and we predict a happy and successful future for him.

*Though often a hiker, he is never a piker,
Our opinion of Fat is quite high;*

Lovers' quarrels are his art,

*He will surely do his part
If a wee bit of coaxing you try.*

He is an exceedingly conscientious student, burning the midnight oil (pardon, we mean electricity) in the wee small hours, much to the disgust of the Finance Committee. Pete is also prominent as the founder of the "Gallery Gang" at Star Course, his social aspirations having been blighted in his youth. A bright light in science—a man of defiance,

RUTH BAKER
Hazelton, Pa.

Music

D. L. S.

We were glad to have Ruth join the ranks of '24 in our Sophomore year. Music is her specialty, but art follows close behind. We think she would be quite a success on the concert platform, but some say she would make an invaluable helpmeet for some minister.

*A classmate true, a worker hard;
A friend, a chum, a noble pard,
How could we help but see for you
A future bright, and happy, too.*

Honors—College: Y. W. C. A. (2, 3); Eurydice (2, 3).

Class: Secretary (3); Quittie Staff (3).
Society: Pianist (2).

GRACE BAUDER
Middletown, Pa.
Public School, Music C. L. S.

She loves fun and a lot of it. Blues vanish at the sight of her. It is said that eyes speak; if so, some people enjoy many conversations with her. But who wouldn't want to speak to her? She is a good music student, but it is said that music is to be her avocation; her vocation will be—but never mind, we wish her the fullness of joy for the future that has been hers in the past.

*Oh, to see her smile, to see her eyes,
Is to see Venetian skies;
In gloomy moods or peopless days
We're sure to find her blithest ways,
And such joy it is to see her smile,
We fall in love with her the while.*

Honors—College: Y. W. C. A. (3); Eurydice Club (3); Oratorio (3).

HANNAH FISHBURN

Ephrata, Pa.

MUSIC

D. L. S.

And here is Hannah, our Prima donna.
Does she sing? Can the Nightingale sing?
Does she dance? Can Pavlova dance?
And you ought to see her string! It's the size of a cowboy's lasso!

*With a voice of power and sweetness
That will ring thruout all time,
She was touched by St. Cecilia
With a gift almost divine.*

Honors—College: Graduate of Linden Hall Seminary. Entered Class of '24 in Junior year. Eurydice (3); Oratorio (3). Class: Basketball (3).

SARA LINDENMUTH
Middletown, Pa.

PUBLIC SCHOOL MUSIC

Although Sara has not been with us long, we are glad she is one of '24, for we have already felt her talent, especially that of music.

*O'er the breezes floats the music,
Music sweet and low,
Sending forth a living message,
One that all may know;
Oh, holder of this talent,
One has greatly favored you,
And we hope you ever use it
For that purpose that is true.*

Honors—College: Y. W. C. A. (3).

ESTHER GILBERT

Lebanon, Pa.

D. L. S.

Who at L. V. does not know Esther and her glorious voice? She is an indefatigable worker, but takes "time out" to make friends. She has enough of them to compose a large audience when she makes her debut as an operatic star.

*I wish I were a little bird
A sitting in a tree;
Then all day long I'd raise my voice
The Gods have given me.*

Honors—College: Eurydice (2, 3), Secretary (3).

MARYELLEN THOMAS

R. D. No. 7, Frederick, Md.

MUSIC

D. L. S.

Ah, an artist in our midst? Maryellen, to be sure. Her hand is deft when wielding the paint-brush; it is deft when touching the keys of the piano. A musician,
too. Maryellen only came to us this year,
and she is a valuable addition to the Class
of 1924.

*Maryellen has a pretty name,
Maryellen has an artist's hand,
Maryellen will surely have fame
Here, and in ev'ry other land*

Honors—College: Art Instructor; Class: "Qmittie" Staff.

Clionian Literary Society

The Clionian Literary Society began the fifty-second year of her existence with thirty-eight active members on the roll. The interest among Clionians in the presentation of splendid programs soon brought the new girls into a realization of the high standards of the society so that before the Anniversary twenty-five girls were ushered into Clio, making this society of sixty-three members, the largest at Lebanon Valley College.

The weekly programs vary greatly, each one featuring some unusual number. Debates on timely questions, portrayals of foreign countries as well as intra-society debates find places on Clio programs. Clio has maintained an unusual record this year in that since the first Friday evening after the opening of school, programs have been rendered regularly with the one exception when a special Lecture Recital unavoidably prevented a session. Three joint session programs, a Clio Alumnae program, and the Fifty-second Anniversary Program, as well as eleven general programs, are included in the number rendered up to January the twenty-sixth.

On the twenty-fourth of November, the Fifty-second Anniversary Exercises were held in the Engle Conservatory. With the Thanksgiving season approaching, it was deemed fitting by the committee appointed to plan for the Anniversary to carry a theme appropriate to the season throughout the entire program and reception. Misses Mary Hiester, Mae Morrow, Dora Billet, Edna Baker, Cynthia Drummond, and Ellen Keller with the aid of Professor Beatty developed an original program featuring the "Trial of Anne Hutchinson." By a diligent study of old documents, the committee arranged a three act production which takes first place in the annals of Clionian Anniversaries as a specimen of originality and a medium for the expression of dramatic ability. Miss Helen Ethel Meyers delivered the Invocation and Miss Lucile Shenk, as president of the society, delivered an address on "Puritanism in the Twentieth Century." Miss Mae Morrow in true Puritan garb read "The First Thanksgiving." Misses Margaret Rhodes, Rosa Zeigler, and Minerva Raub delighted the audience in presenting piano, vocal and organ numbers. Dressed in Puritan garb each Clionian aided in making this Anniversary the most unusual as well as the most spectacular produced for many a year.

During the Christmas Holidays, Clio Hall was frescoed and the Clionians are endeavoring to acquire additional fixtures which are necessary in order to make it attractive.

The Clionians feel that they have done well, but not satisfied in that which has been accomplished they are looking forward to the attainment of that to which the first Clionians aspired, "Virtue et Fide" in women everywhere.

Delphian Literary Society

The year 1921 witnessed a new ladies' literary society formed at Lebanon Valley College. Due to the growth in the number of women students, the Clonian Literary Society was forced to recruit from her ranks, girls, who would be the nucleus of a new society. The new society, composed of forty members, was christened "Delphian." From that time on, Delphian has been an active, living organization. New interest has arisen among all the girls, each striving to make her own society the better. Due to competition, programs of the highest quality have been rendered.

As to history, Delphian has had very little. It is now in the making. The short year and a half since it was founded has brought out many new things—foremost among these, the Delphian spirit, without which no great project can ever be accomplished.

Realizing that without a home to call their own they could not successfully keep themselves together, the room above the library was asked for. The hall was temporarily granted them until they could have one in the Women's New Dormitory. The next step was to furnish the new-gotten home. Every effort was made to that purpose. The plan of selling floor chairs to friends, and having the donor's name placed on the back, was adopted. The girls, alert to every opportunity, aware of the great possibilities before them, worked with the new, never-tiring Delphian spirit and enthusiasm and made their dreams come true—Delphian Hall was furnished by their first anniversary.

Besides making history, the Delphian Literary Society is making and moulding character, fitting each girl to more adequately cope with the greater and more serious questions in life. To "Know Thyself" should indeed be the aim of every true girl seeking ideal womanhood.

The Philokosmian Literary Society

Throughout the years, from the founding of Lebanon Valley College, up to the present day and in the days to come, Philo has been, is, and will continue to be an inspiration to all those who come into contact with her.

Founded upon the principles of Truth, Justice, Honor, Duty and Service, she has stood the test of years, and is now a dominant factor in framing the character and destiny of those who fill her ranks.

Together with three Societies of Lebanon Valley College, Philo is helping the students of this school to realize conditions and meet them. This is done through the public Literary Sessions and private Business Sessions. Philo has always rendered good, substantial programs including music, art, literature, discussions, debates, readings, illustrated lectures, sketches and plays. In all her programs and meetings, Philo is conservative enough to preserve the traditions and ideals of the society and at the same time, she is not afraid to attempt the untried, the new, the undiscovered—and in the true spirit of adventure, she seeks out the Truth and makes the Truth tradition.

The past has witnessed Philo's success; yet unhindered by former achievement, Philo ever moves onward to new fields of adventure— She realizes that achievement and success can not be static and also that greatness only lies in continued success— Thus, as time passes, refusing to rest upon the laurels of achievement, Philo presses on to new fields of conflict and conquers therein.

It is true that an organization is no stronger than the individual of which it is composed—. Realizing this, Philo calls forth the best in young men and asks them to use it at all times, she succeeds in this, for out of the great game of life, where the superficialities of theory are set aside by the infallible test of Truth, those who were once under Philo's nurture and care are now making good and enjoying success because they have learned "To Be, Not Seem To Be."

Thus as years pass on and Time moves toward that great eternity of Yesterday, building on the great foundations of days gone by, and mounting higher as each Today adds to the structure, Philo prepares for the morrow by training men to be their better selves, True, Honest and Sincere.

The Kalozetean Literary Society

Previous to the year 1877, there was but one Literary Society for the men at Lebanon Valley College. With the coming of this year, however, together with the rapid growth of the school, there resulted a situation which not only tended to disharmonize, but also effect a static society through lack of competition. The Kalozetean Literary Society has heretofore been organized and for forty years has continued for the "culture of its members, and the propagation of knowledge, morality, friendship and truth." Believing that a limited membership would be most conducive to this object, her early organizers put into practice his theory of separation and places a restriction on the number of members to be admitted to the roll of Kalos. The limitation has been adhered to ever since; the maximum membership at present being limited to fifty collegiate male Students.

The society hall is located on the third floor of the Engle Conservatory of Music. In this hall, literary and business sessions are held every Friday evening at 7:15 o'clock. The Literary Programs are recommended by the Judiciary Committee, and consist of debates, orations, essays, readings, sketches and musical numbers. By means of the limited membership, participation in these programs becomes a frequent matter. The quality of self-expression is cultivated in the business session where affairs of common interest are discussed by Seniors and Freshmen alike.

An event of public interest is offered annually by the members of the society, namely, the Anniversary Exercises which are held on the first night of April. The object of these exercises is to train members for public work, as well as to display to the public the progress that is taking place within the society.

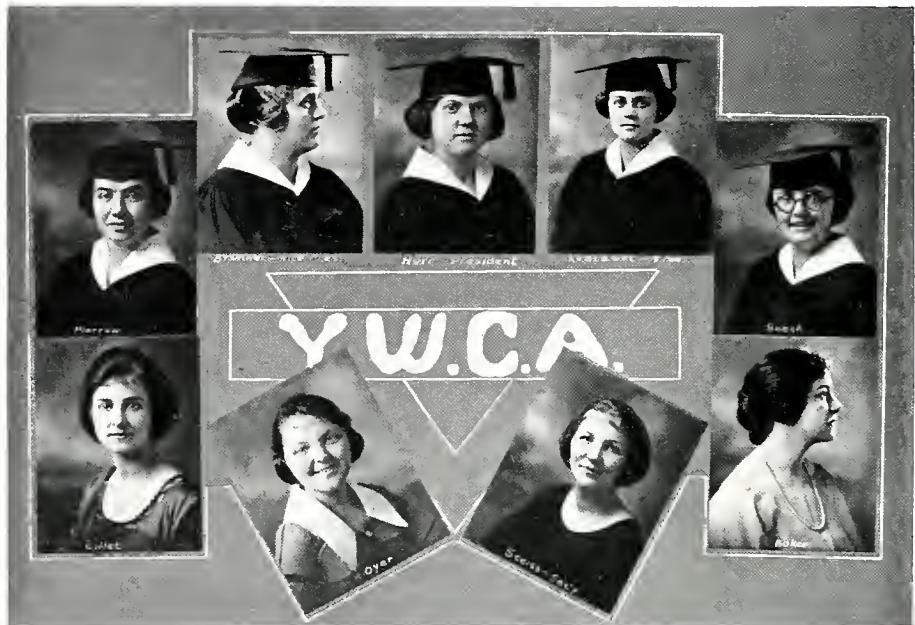

In addition, joint literary sessions are held at various times throughout the year with the Clonian and Delphian Literary Societies, to which members of Kalo look forward with eager expectancy and delight.

The opportunity thus afforded for literary and social development are such that no student can afford to go through college without availing himself of the benefit derived from membership in a college literary society.

The Student Volunteers Band

Our band is composed of a group of students who are preparing to answer the Great Commission. We aim to live in a closer relationship with Christ that we may be better able to help others find their place in the fields of life, whether it be at home or abroad, and that we may be better able to present the Christ to those who do not know him. Being a part of the General Movement we learn much concerning Student Volunteers all over the world, forming a band of fellowship with others who are also interested in this world-wide task.

All credit is due to "Stubby" for the splendid football machine he produced during the Season of '22. The record of the 1916 season had always been held before the eyes of the team as a goal almost unattainable, yet the results of this season compare very favorably with the '16 season and if we had had a punter to equal Mackert of that day there might be a different story.

To Manager Faust, too, we owe thanks for the care of the team financially and the securing in conjunction with the Graduate Manager of such a splendid schedule. It is worth noting that four of the games were within reach of the student body in comparison with two home games of the season before.

Schedule Season 1922

	L.V.	Opp.		L.V.	Opp.
Sept. 30—Army	0	12	Nov. 4—Juniata	59	6
Oct. 7—Georgetown	6	19	Nov. 11—Susquehanna	19	0
Oct. 14—Penn State	6	32	Nov. 18—Lehigh	2	6

Oct. 28—Washington	32	0

Our Varsity Squad

FERDINAND BECK—Capt. Third Year; Age 22; Wt. 190; Tackle. Unfortunately "Ferdie" had his hand broken, but when healed he appeared with his usual scrap.

ROLAND RENN—Fourth year; Age 25; Wt. 185; Guard. Football being "Birdie's" favorite pastime he surely did prove that practice makes perfect.

RICHARD SMITH—Fourth year; Age 20; Wt. 170; Full Back. With might and soul "Dick" set up for himself a new record on the gridiron.

HENRY HOMAN—Third year; Age 21; Wt. 135; Quarterback. Our famous featherweight. And he proved to be the biggest troublemaker for our opponents.

EDGAR WHISTLER—Third year; Age 21; Wt. 195; Tackle. The big burly tackle who smiled at opposition, for that was what he liked.

JEROME FROCK—First year; Age 22; Wt. 170; Center. "Jerry" was our masher and when he mashed they remained just that way.

FREDERICK LAUSTER—Second year; Age 23; Wt. 195; Guard. "Fat" ruled the line, and found no opposing line too tight to keep him out.

JOSEPH DANKER—Second year; Age 21; Wt. 190; End. At End, Joe could handle any sort of pass and when he tackled there was no argument.

WALTER KRAUSE—Second year; Age 22; Wt. 175; Halfback. When the line failed Walter could be depended upon. His specialty was an aerial attack.

WILLIAM WUESCHINSKI—Second year; Age 21; Wt. 170; Halfback. Having played in most every position "Bill" at last found his hobby, and his job is permanent.

WILLIAM CLARKIN—Second year; Age 21; Wt. 170; End. None escaped "Red". If his hands failed, he overcame them with his size.

HOWARD BURNTNER—First year; Age 19; Wt. 165; Tackle. "Burt", though a first year man, backed up the line in veteran style. He will surely be missed next season.

WILFRED PERRY—Second year; Age 21; Wt. 165; Quarterback. When "Henny" was hurt "Zeke" ably filled the position.

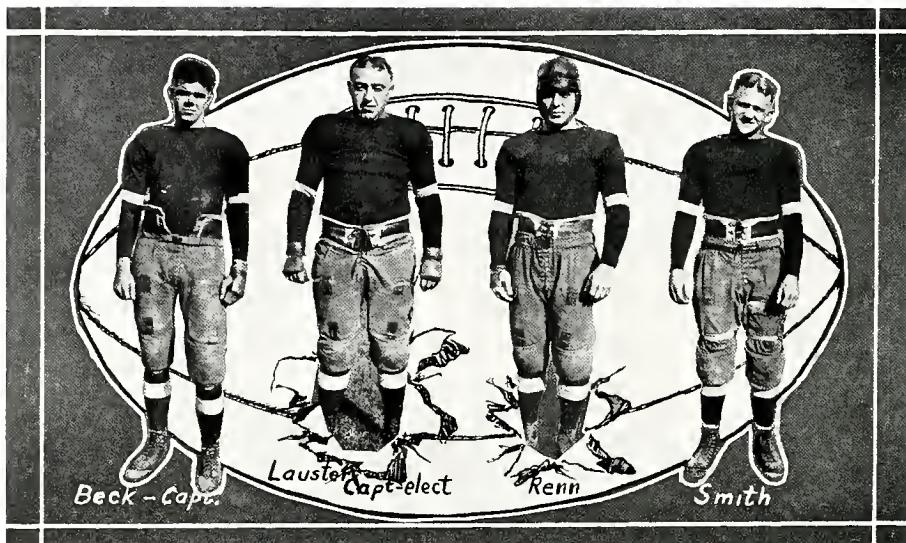

LEO BEHM—First year; Age 23; Wt. 185; Full Back. "Behmie's" bucking prowess was constantly applied to good advantage.

EMERSON METOXIN—Second year; Age 21; Wt. 160; End. "Chief" proved a lifesaver for he discovered he had a toe adapted to drop-kicking.

STANLEY LA POINTE—First year; Age 20; Wt. 175; Half Back. When "Stan" ran the ball a gain was certain, for he played the game hard.

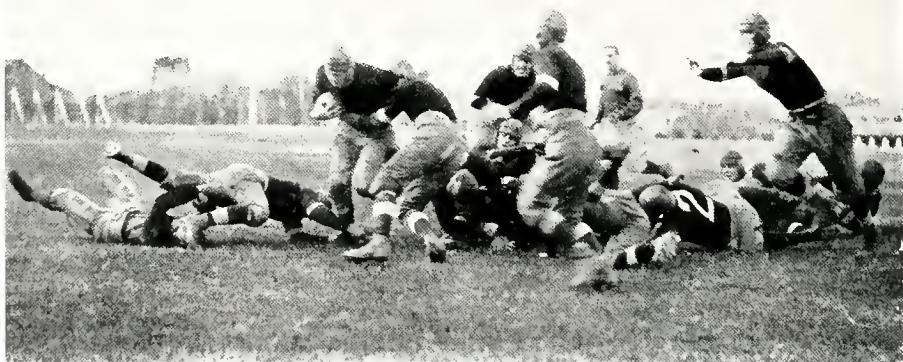

CLEON MUSSER—Second year; Age 21; Wt. 175; Guard. He has mastered all line positions and is proven a worthy fighter.

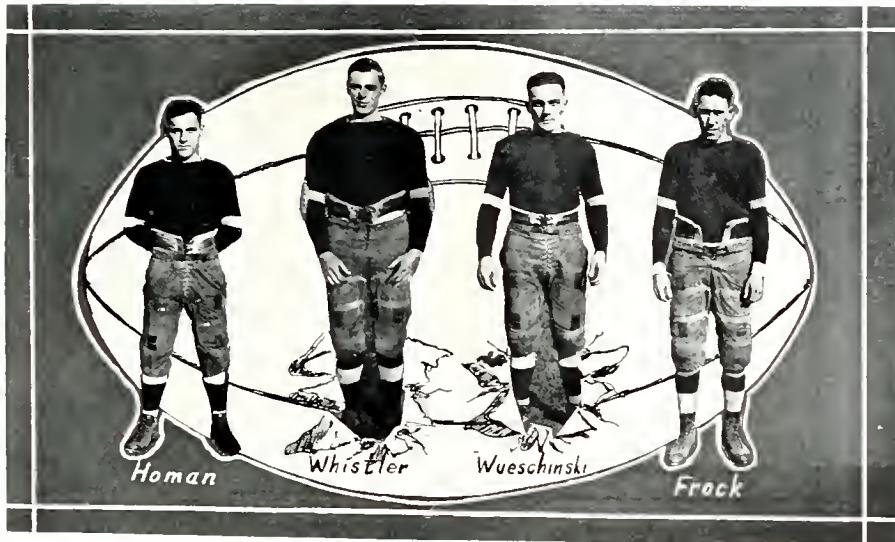

FREDERICK HEILMAN—First year; Age 20; Wt. 175; End. "Fritz" the unexcitable, was the sensational lad on the gridiron.

Just as the mounted jockey reports at the race track at the sound of the first gong, so our foot-ball men reported at L. V. on Sept. 12, to the call of our renowned Coach Wilder. Then like a troop of infantrymen they started their nine mile hike to Mt. Gretna, where they received a week and a half of the best football training. Sept. 28th came and we found a squad of 22 men boarding the train, determined to show the West Point Cadets what the L. V. football machine could do.

Sept. 30th found the wearers of the Blue and White eagerly awaiting the first whistle on the Army gridiron. Army received, and the fight was on! A tense moment—would we yield to the Army offense? No, they held! they held!! Army then tried an aerial attack which was soon cut short. Tacties were again changed, this time to a mutual punting attack, here we were outclassed and Army slowly forced us to the goal line—and scored. Thus it was that the L. V. team left the field at the final whistle with a score of 12 to 0 against them.

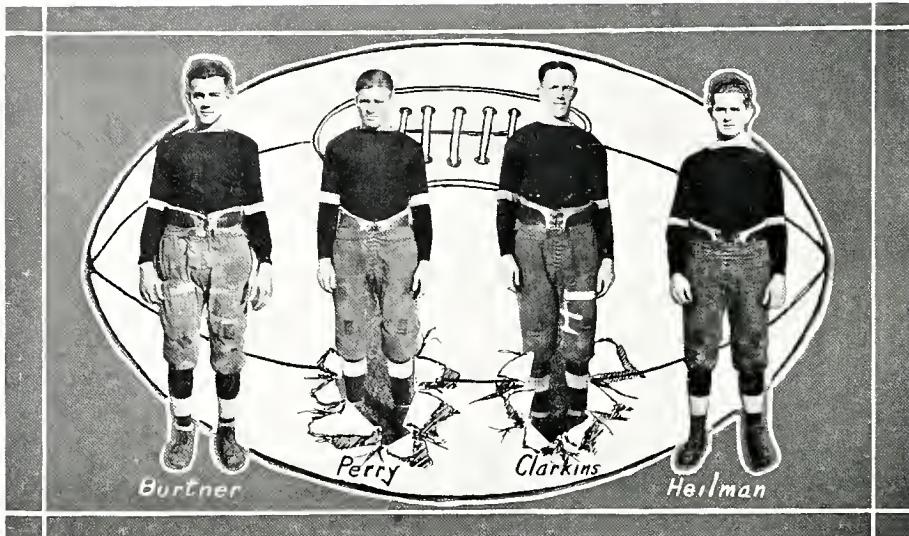

A week more of signal practice and scrimmaging and Oct. 7th found our strengthened team ready to do battle with the heavy Georgetown team at Washington. The boys fought hard, and were able to score a touchdown by a 35 yard run of our speedy "Henny" and his forward pass to Wueschinski. But the final score was against us, 19 to 6. Still we were proud!

On Oct. 14 the squad journeyed to State College. Oh what a surprise we gave them! State's formations would not get thru, her trick plays were cut short, and the end of the first half found the score 13-6, in State's favor. But the third quarter proved disastrous for L. V. Through an apparently prolonged struggle in the last half, State was able to score a few more touchdowns, making the final score 32 to 6.

The next game, Oct. 21, was played with St. Josephs on our own gridiron. Completely outclassing them, the Blue and Whites easily captured a 46-0 victory. They were relieved in the last quarter by the second string men who scored with almost equal ease on the St. Joe line.

Some more practice and Oct. 28 found our team opposing the Washington College Squad at Harrisburg. The way "Dick" circled the end, or "Behm" hit the line, or "Henny" skipped in and out among the Maryland lads was a marvel! At no time was the outcome threatening and we returned to Annville with Washington's scalp to the tune of 32-0.

Our fourth successive victory was scored against Juniata at Lebanon on Nov. 4th. The aerial attack of Juniata at the beginning of the game surprised the boys at first, so that the first 6 points went to the opponents, but they nipped it in the bud and began a scoring game of their own. Though "Henny" was unable to pilot the team on account of an injured knee Perry was able to drive the machine through the Juniata line to a final score of 59 to 6.

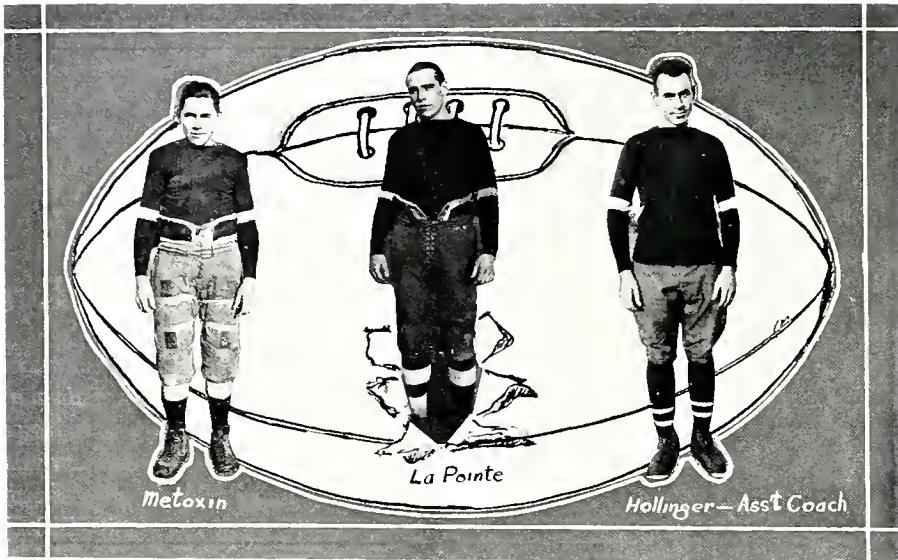

Susquehanna was the next victim on the Lebanon Field, Nov. 11. The boys were determined to retrieve themselves this year for the defeat on Thanksgiving of last year, and they did! "Henny" was with the "benchers" until the latter part of the third quarter when he went in and put the trimmings on the victory by making a few more 30 yard runs and several of his famous forward passes to Wueschinski. The final score against Captain Sweeney and his squad was 19 to 0.

The next game, Nov. 18 went on record as a victory for Lehigh. Yet Conch Wood of Gettysburg congratulated "Stubby" after the game on defeating Lehigh, the Allentown papers, too, questioned several decisions of the officials at that game. At any rate, that we were able to successfully block four attempts to punt out of danger finally pushing the Brown and White Squad behind our goal line for a safety, speaks well of the pep and fight that our team displayed on that day. Throughout the game Lehigh gained but 6 points, and those on a questionable decision, so that the final score was 6 to 2.

Nov. 25th found ninety percent of the student body on the Gettysburg bleachers to yell for the team. The game began in a strong wind and a slight snowfall. The Blue and White line held like a stone wall against the straight plunges of the Battlefield lads but they were able to work several trick plays, and with Bream's toe were able to end the first half with a score of 3-0 in their favor. The second half was a hard struggle, "Birdie" featured by intercepting two passes and picking up a fumble near their goal and carry the ball out of danger. Then Frook and "Henny" were eliminated through injuries, this and the superior punting of Bream enabled the Gettysburg squad to score two more drop-kicks and a touchdown making the final score of 15 to 0.

Thus ended Lebanon Valley's football season.

Our Scrubs

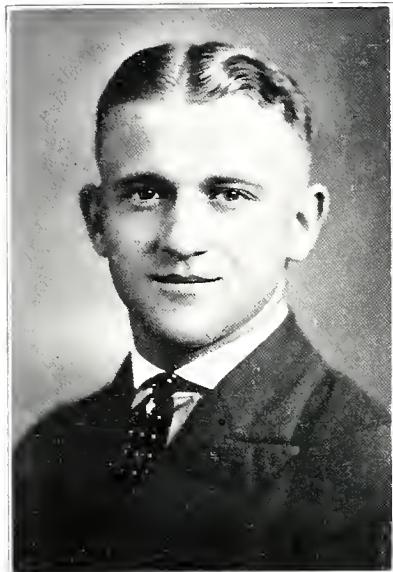

When the words "Reserves" or "Scrubs" are mentioned or a member of such squad is pointed out, it occurs only as a passing remark, but on the other hand, let the "Varsity" or any of its squad be mentioned and we find it a signal to "sit up and give him the once-over".

Why should this be so? On the grid-iron the scrub is the whipping post of the varsity and subject for all experiments. It is the scrub who stands in the way of the sometimes awful onslaught of the charging Varsity, and is expected to check them and throw them back. Then considering the condition when the scrub is on the offense, he must charge that "stonewall Varsity line" and mow them aside. In short it is a fight, at least usually so, of the lighter and unskilled against the stronger and more experienced group. Certainly the scrub deserves more than a passing remark.

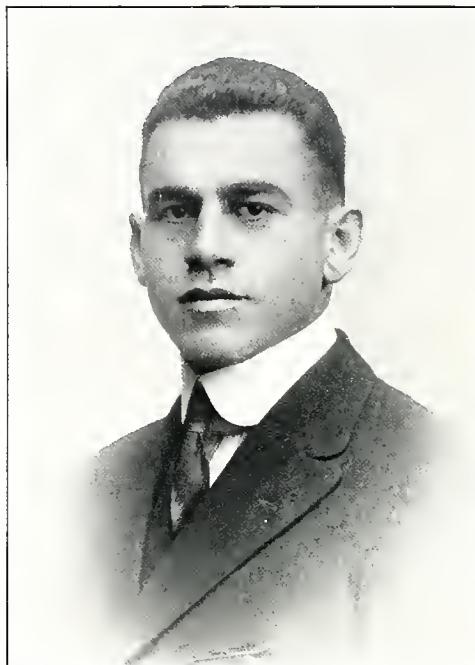

Then consider just what the scrub team consists of. It is, in many cases, a team of those who remain after about twenty two of the best men are set aside and labeled the Varsity squad. Every time one of these Varsity men are injured there is a vacancy to be filled, until his recovery, by a scrub. And it is always the best man among the scrubs that is taken so that his position is hard to fill. Then again to be a good scrub you are expected to play most any position, for at any time there might be a gap or vacancy to be filled for which there remains only one man. And he must fill it without question. So that in defining the scrub we feel it perfectly proper to say, with all respect to the Scrubs at L. V., he is—the one for whom the Varsity is not able to provide, and who must serve as a "backing board" for the varsity squad.

It is for these reasons then that the Scrubs deserve so much credit, indeed without them there could be no varsity. It was entirely under such conditions and circumstances that our Reserve Squad so commendably fought the Varsity five nights out of every seven, and also demonstrated their ability with the opposing teams in the results of their 1922 Season Schedule:

Sept. 27—Lebanon High 14; Reserves 6.	Oct. 21—Co. D of Lebanon 0; Reserves 40.
Sept. 30—F. & M. Academy 6; Reserves 0.	Nov. 4—Stevens Trade Sch. 19; Res. 18.
Oct. 14—Sunbury High 0; Reserves 28.	Nov. 11—Columbia Amer. Leg. 19; Res. 19

Varsity Basketball

The call having been given by Coach Hollinger for basketball men, there were about twenty-five respondents. This was too many for our small court so that through a process of elimination and survival of the fittest there remained about fifteen men. From this group was picked the varsity squad, seven in number, who under the leadership and commendable coaching of Joe, but under the very poorest of court facilities honorably fought through the season's schedule. In passing, our team surpassed all, but on a large court, as most colleges of today have, they were lost. Better results were impossible, indeed the results are surprising and worthy of much praise if consideration is given to the practicing facilities.

WALTER WOLF, CENTER - CAPTAIN

Walter might not look tall but you should see him lift himself like a tree when his opposition is high. He is a star when it comes to playing the floor and with his strange little twist he made plenty of baskets.

HENRY HOMAN, GUARD

"Henny's" size was at many times a handicap especially in a passing game, but it proved as big an asset, equally as often, when it came to a dribbling game. "Henny's" specialty was a long shot and the ball very seldom hesitated going through the basket.

WILLIAM WOLFE, FORWARD

Can Bill shoot foul? Well he can't miss 'em. Bill though smaller than most of his opponents was able to score from the field with any of them and was a mighty clever boy in the passing game.

EMERSON METOXIN, FORWARD

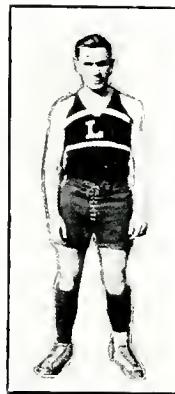

Chief, as is characteristic of Indians, was extremely clever and on all occasions outwitted his opponents by his quickness. He could handle the ball in any position and was the high scorer from the field.

WILLIAM CLARKIN, GUARD

"Red" being the only "six-footer" proved his ability at breaking up passes. "Red" is a worker, a hearty player and whether in scoring or teamwork he forced himself to the front never allowing anything to go undone.

WALTER KRAUSE, CENTER

Walter is also a jumper and has proven his ability every time he has taken his position in the middle ring. Team work was Walter's specialty, and at all times he gave his co-workers the chance of scoring. We expect great things of him next season.

WILLIAM WUESCHIINSKI

Bill loves to hear the ball "swish" through the net, and he can put the ball there too, not only for his amusement but to help the team on to victory. He is a good scrapper and can be depended upon to give his best while in the game.

Our Junior Varsity

The Junior Varsity of the past season was without doubt the strongest ever. They put in condition our Varsity squad and besides went through a schedule of their own in mighty fine shape. Just as our Varsity, they were handicapped when they played away from home on a larger court. Every member was faithful in reporting for practice and all were mighty good scrappers, at all times giving their very best, and they were well rewarded as their schedule shows.

Double headers were their specialty and on a number of occasions ran one game in the afternoon and one in the evening. Whether away from home, or on our own court they well represented the school and the sport.

They had a squad of about a dozen men and on several occasions due to injury or removal from the game by fouling, each of them had an opportunity to do his bit toward a victory for the team. They were all good on floor work and were no "slouches" at scoring from the field. Several of them look like promising foul shooters for the Varsity for the coming seasons.

CHARLES KELCHNER
Coach

REUEL SWANK
Manager

Baseball Our 1922 Season

When the call for first practice was issued by our Coach it was answered promptly by many new men as well as the members remaining from the '21 Squad. Quite a number of the old Squad had left us and it was up to "Pop" Kelchner to whip a new team into shape. He went at it as only Kelchner knows how, and in a few weeks had a splendid team in working order.

Manager Swank in the meantime had worked earnestly to prepare a good schedule for the season and was able to secure a very good one. The season began on April 8th, and while the record of the season is not as favorable as it might have been from the standpoint of games won, yet we can proudly say that the team played clean and showed good sportsmanship to the last man.

WALTER WOLF, (CAPTAIN) PITCHER

Walter has for three seasons filled the box in perfect shape. His ability as a pitcher, with all his speed and the many varied hooks which he can put on the ball, is strengthened by his foresight and his possession of a base-ball mind. Walter piloted the team through a successful season, and did not discourage when support was lacking.

RICHARD SMITH, SECOND BASE

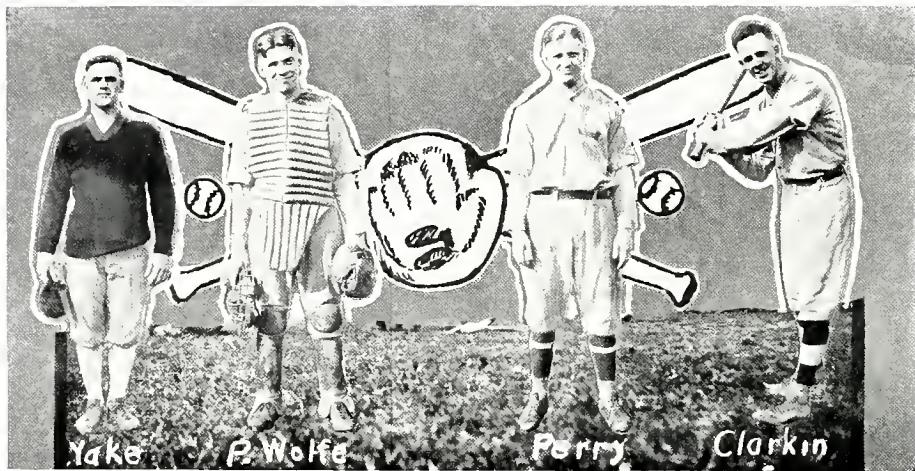

"Dick" was transplanted from the outfield to the infield and immediately proved that he was at home there, for no grounders were too swift for him. He was quite handy at the bat, too.

LEON WITMER, PITCHER

"Lefty", the confident pitcher and the one in whom others are confident. He always had the batter at his mercy and being able to outwit them, he has proven his experience worth much. He too is quite able to take care of himself when at bat.

HENRY HOMAN, THIRD BASE

"Henny" holds down third base and his favorite is a "hot liner" which he delights in whipping down to first and catch the runner napping. There are few, too, who can circle the bases as speedily as "Henny". He will mean much to the success of our team this season.

ROBERT YAKE, CENTER FIELD

"Bobby" the sensational lad. He gets them all if they don't fly out of sight. He has a perfect arm and it means a sure "peg" when he tosses the ball to the infield. "Bobby" has also a reputation as a slugger, and is respected by all the pitchers he faces.

PORTE WOLFE, CATCHER

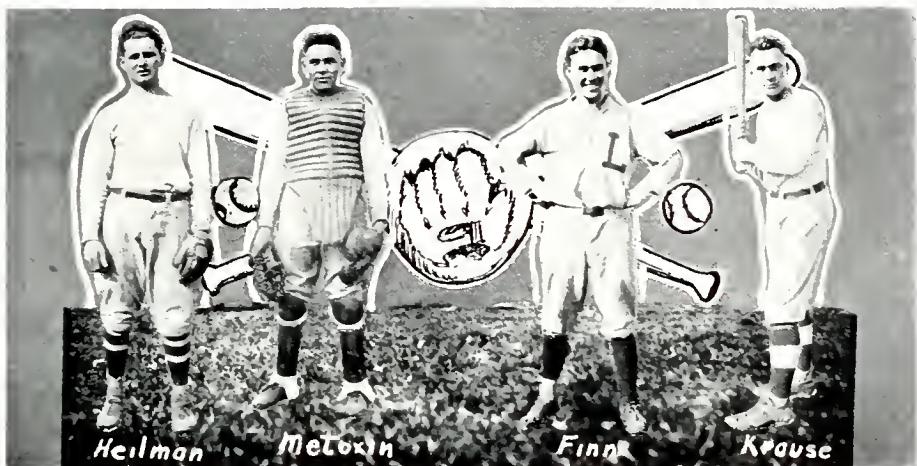

Porte though not the regular catcher could hold in the best of pitchers. With plenty of pep he could put life into the team and keep the opponents worried. Porte was a lifesaver many times when "Chief" was unable to take the position due to injury.

WILFRED PERRY, FIRST BASE

"Zeke" who came to us as a pitcher or an outfielder finally was placed on first which position he handles like an old timer. He can pitch, too, when needed and is known to "slash 'em out" when at bat.

WILLIAM CLARKIN, RIGHT FIELD

"Red" considers it a regular part of the game to run out on the track or in the stubble to gather in a fly, and they are sure catches. He is always alert and at all times backs up the infielders. "Red" came through the season with many clean hits.

FREDERICK HEILMAN, SHORT STOP

"Fritzie" though usually a quiet boy is always very much alive in a base-ball game. He came to us with a High School record and has shown that he can do equally as well with us. When "Rube" left us, "Fritzie" ably filled the position.

EMERSON METOXIN, CATCHER

"Chief" was the backstop for our pitching staff. Very few balls went by him, for the faster they came the better he handled them and he could "Peg" to second in perfect style. "Chief" was always good for a hit.

RAYMOND FINN, THIRD BASE

Either in the infield or the outfield none could handle them prettier than "Wack" although his arm went bad so that on several occasions he had poor control. His batting could not honestly be called terrific, but often it was timely.

WALTER KRAUSE, FIRST BASE

For half the season Krause traveled at high speed, though he seemed a bit off color the latter half. He knew how to handle ground balls and wild heaves and was also able to connect with the sphere. He is a hard worker whom experience should develop into a reliable player.

Tennis

The spring of 1922 having arrived and all the trees and ground life re-awakened from their winter slumbers, L. V. took another bracer and revived with full force and virtue another of their long lost sports, namely tennis. Tennis, however, is a very popular sport on our campus and when the courts are in shape there is always a waiting line for each court. It was merely a matter of neglect that a team had not been organized to compete with other colleges.

Such a team was organized in the season of 1922 and with the aid of the tennis manager a satisfactory schedule of tournaments with other schools was arranged. Coach "Dave" Fink, a graduate of L. V. who had been on the tennis team when a student, after a season of tryouts and coaching was able to pick a team which could meet the best of college representatives of this sport. On this team were Rhodes Stabley, Meyer Herr, Elwood Stabley and William Wolfe. All of them being well seasoned players they were able to carry off the schedule very commendably.

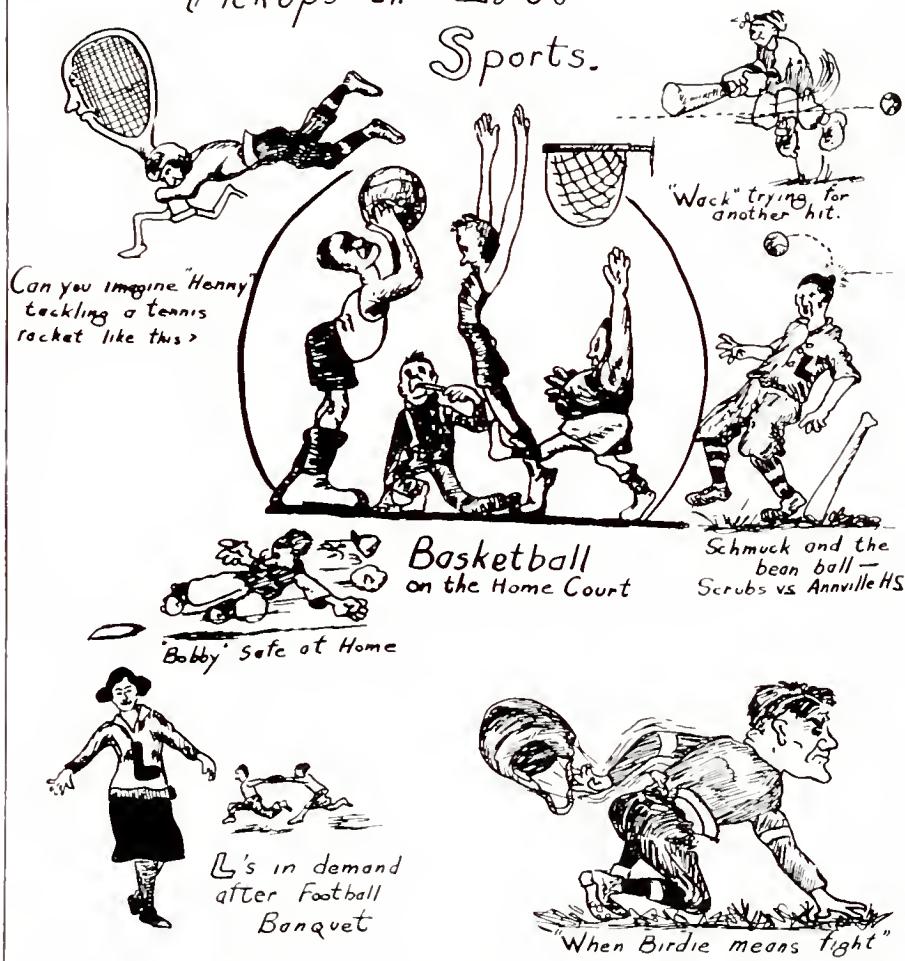

The tournaments staged at home were attended by the majority of the student body and were the centers of interest while the season lasted. Our movable sectional bleachers were set up at the side of the courts, and there was always a hundred or more dorm students to fill them, to cheer for the team, and to spur them on to victory. The spirit of co-operation was evident throughout even to the extent of being mentioned by the opposing team, or strangers who were present at the tournaments.

There were several more tournaments scheduled but had to be canceled due to bad weather. But the fact that the newly organized sport was able to create enough interest to carry on a schedule of five tournaments, all with favorable scores, speaks well not only for the efforts of the manager and coach, but for the success of the seasons in the future.

Girl's Varsity Basketball

The interest in basket ball had been steadily increasing in the last two years for the most part due to the system of interclass games and a better organized course in "Gym" work. It was natural then that the girls should attempt to reestablish a girl's Varsity at L. V. Unfortunately, perhaps, they adopted the boy's rules in playing the game, and for this reason found it impossible to arrange a schedule with other college teams which as a rule play the girl's rules. But it was no difficult matter to get into shape a schedule with High School and other teams. This being the first time since '19 that we had an organized girl's Varsity they were somewhat handicapped as to experience, but on the whole their season can be called a success even though they had but one victory. They did come through with a number of close games and on one occasion played an extra five minute period to decide the victor. With this as a start we will predict for the future a girl's team which will come up to the par of its past and guarantee a series of good games for the next season.

Girl's Interclass Sports

In line with the general interest shown in inter-class and inter-group games among the boys, a schedule of similar games was arranged among the girls. They included in their sports basketball, volleyball and indoor baseball. This was an entirely new feature for heretofore there was nothing except the regular "gym" routine and "challenged" games. In order that each girl might have a chance in the games they were divided into alphabetically arranged groups, similar to the scheme used with the boys. The interest shown by the girls, and also the rest of the school, indicates that the plan is a good one and has done much to increase the class as well as school spirit of our students.

This interest has gone beyond the "gym" events for the girls are planning at the time of writing this article outdoor volleyball and baseball games which will be played on the campus as soon as the weather permits. Great credit is due these girls for the grit and sportsmanship they are showing.

Intramurals

Previous to last year there was carried thruout the different sport seasons interclass contests brought about by challenges only. Our Athletic Director, Coach Hollinger has instituted a better system of staging these games, and besides has been able to run a regular schedule of games each week so that a constant interest would be maintained in the student body as a boost to the Varsity Squads. This is particularly true of the indoor sports. Last year the schedule was made up of interclass games entirely, each class playing a series of three games with every other class. This year he has inaugurated a new system.

Each class met every other class but once in the sports, basketball, volleyball and indoor baseball. The male student body was then divided into five groups alphabetically. They were as follows: The A to D group called Beekernos, the E to H group called the Elephant Hunters, the I to R group called the K. K. K.'s, the S to T group called the Stickers and the U to Z group called the Spark Plugs. A schedule of the three above mentioned sports was then arranged by the Athletic Director and it was carried through with as much pep and interest as the Class games.

This system has proven the most satisfactory, for it has given each man a chance and entirely eliminated the possibility of bad sportsmanship or ill-will due to "cliques" in the student body. During the games the "gallery" was usually packed by an enthusiastic group of supporters, and each group co-operated with the other to carry the schedule to a successful end.

In this discussion there is no attempt to give a complete resume of all the interclass events, for to do so would require many more pages and would become a series of dull statistics. We have chosen this particular part in order to give "Joe" full credit for his efforts toward creating more school spirit, and putting a bit of variety into what might otherwise be a dull routine of "gym" work.

Following are the results of the interclass contests in Basketball and Volleyball. The intergroup schedule has not been completed at the writing of this article so that the results cannot be given.

MR. M. C. FAVINGER

Our Chef

1924's Quittapahilla would not be complete without a word of grateful appreciation for our chef. The man of the hour, and by whom we all live. The proverbial "bum eats" of college life does not apply to L. V., thanks to chef, for by his untiring efforts we have three, good, wholesome, palatable meals a day. In addition to this, he knows how to delight us in serving up an incomparable Christmas and Football banquet. We cannot help but mention, too, the enthusiasm with which Mr. Favinger followed up our football team even making it possible for the student body to attend the last two games of the season.

Our Jolly Janitor

"Mornin' Dad!" Sure you've heard it, you hear it every day and you hear his jolly answer, too. "Dad" is our janitor and can usually be found to hear and to attend to our troubles when there is a chair needed, a window broken, or a general repair to be made. Many times, too, we thoughtlessly do things which mean more work for him, but he never complains. It is with the utmost sincerity and appreciation that we wish him the best that life can give.

SCRAP BOOK

DO YOU WANT AN EXTRA COPY OF THE 1924 QUITTAPAHILLA
FREE?

This is the first time in the history of the Quittapahilla that the Annual Staff has made this daring offer. Think of it! It is once in a lifetime that such an offer as this is placed within your grasp. We want you to feel free to take advantage of it. We believe in rewarding honest effort, we also believe in holding high the standards of the book which shall record the events and statistics of our life at L. V. C. Therefore, we absolutely guarantee a free copy of the 1924 Quittapahilla to be given to any person who will mail us proof that any joke used in this humor section is not new and original! Send all communications to the Editor, 1924 Quittapahilla, Room 54, Boy's Dorm L. V. C.

Note: All communications must be accompanied by four dollars ($4.00) to cover costs of packing, mailing, etc., etc.

We now present this section for your approval, dear reader. In it, we have tried to include only those happenings or jokes which can be laughed at and forgotten. If we have displeased you please get a small piece of paper, paste and scissors and paste it neatly over the offending statement. Then try to remember only the funny things we have said.

An Address

(With Apologies to Abraham Lincoln)

Two score and seventeen years ago our fathers established in beautiful Lebanon Valley a new institution of learning, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that national prosperity is the aim of all good citizenship. For this reason we are now met in the Economics Classroom, testing whether that study or a good snooze will long take possession of us. We are met to dedicate a portion of this room as a final resting place for those who here gave their attention to Prof.'s line. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave Lebanon Valleyites living and dead who struggled to keep awake here have dedicated it far above our poor power to add or detract. We will little note nor long remember what was said here but we will never forget how well we slept here. It is for us the living rather to be dedicated to the great task remaining before us,—to procure for our classmates more comfortable seats so that they may not need to sprawl over three chairs.

Thus in behalf of the economists of the Class of '24 and the three Wolfes, we dedicate the last two rows of Room 18 for the dormant partners of the succeeding classes. We hereby highly resolve that these honored slumberers shall not be disturbed, that this institution shall have a new birth of freedom and the seats of the people, for the people, and under the people shall be hereafter more comfortable.

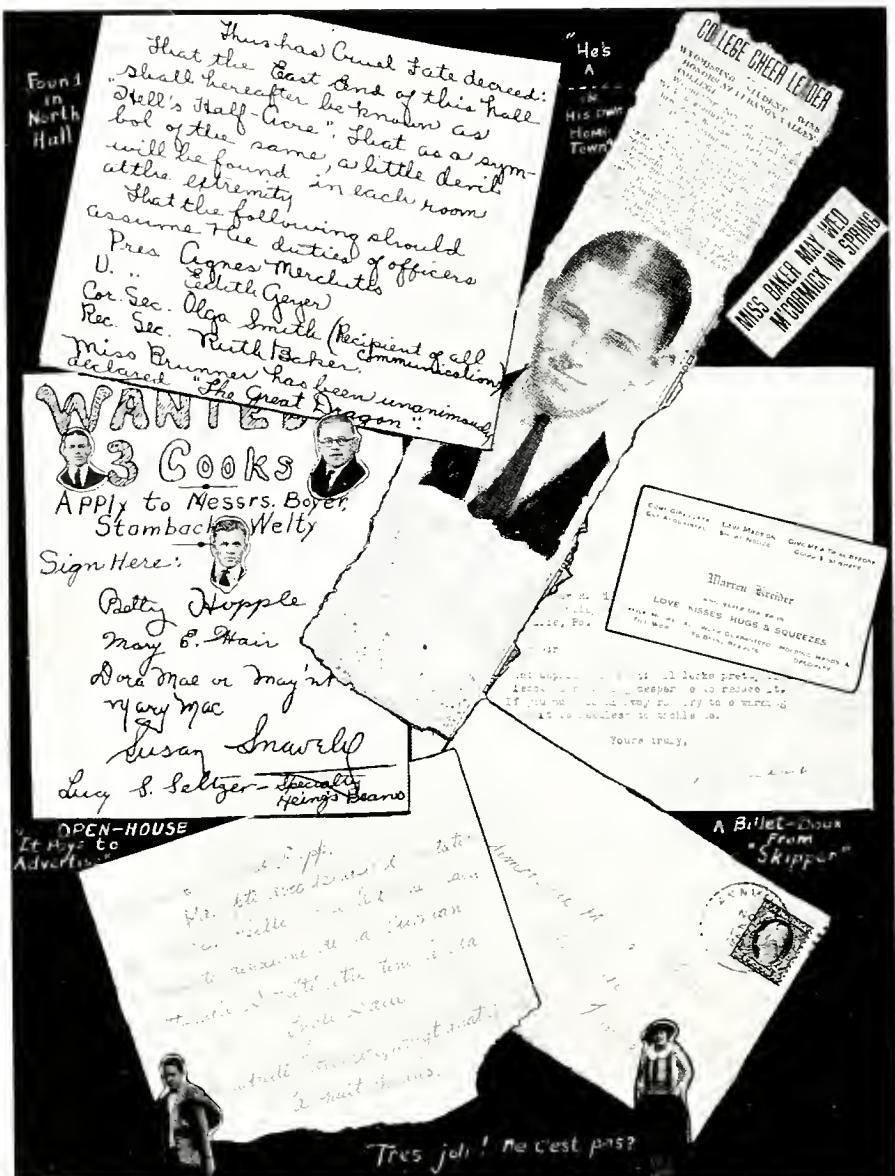

When you have a kind of feelin'
That life ain't very dear;
When you wish you wasn't livin'
And to die you wouldn't care;
Most everything agoin' wrong
But nothin' going right,
When your appetite's a failin'
Can't even sleep at night;
When you wish the world to zoolie,
And most the people too;
Might it be because you're sick, lad,
Or just a feelin' blue?
Naw!! Exams!!!

Needed a Traffic Cop

In front the boy's dormitory early or late,
The couples will plant themselves and debate,—
Whether to take in a dance or a show,
Or what makes a crippled ant walk so slow.
There's Nig and Mae, George and Mae, Agnes and Fat,
Lola, Dick—Kat and Renn, and e'en more than that
We like to see them happy but we always have to stop,
To push through the crowd. Don't we need a traffic cop?

NOTHNG NEW!

Kerr: Say Sarah, your mouth is open.
Sarah: Yes, I opened it myself.

LET ME COUNT 'EM

Prof. Derickson: Miss Long, how many ribs have you?
Miss Long: Oh Dear! I don't know. I'm too ticklish to count them.

PROGRESS

Wagner: Did you prove that proposition?
Wenner: Well I've rendered it highly probable.

AND IN THE SAME PLACE TOO

Boyer: They say whiskey shortens a man's life.
Rupp: Yes, but he sees twice as much in the same time.

THE MYSTERY OF THE MISSING MUSTACHE.

After the Junior Play he was the hero of the hour. He had moved the audience to smiles and tears by his splendid acting. But now he jostled through the crowd, unmindful of the eager throng waiting to shake his hand,—of the admiring glances of the more timid ones, even of his wealth of sideburns, mustache, grease and paint. He soon reached the side of his chief critic, received her applause with satisfaction. Then they walked slowly down Maple Street. The strain was over, the play was ended, and he returned to his room late that night.—But to his dismay and confusion his roomy told him that he had forgotten to remove any of his "makeup" except his mustache. Where had he lost it?

Wonder What a Prof Thinks About?

The door at the rear of the room opens briskly just nine minutes after the hour. In lofty majesty, the Prof sweeps up the aisle, heedless of the class which all prepared for its getaway in another minute, now slumps dejectedly into their seats. The Prof steps up to the desk, pulls back his chair, glances to the four corners of the room, and slowly sits down.

Prof to himself: "Fooled 'em again! What a lot this younger generation is! We never let a teacher get away with anything like that when I was in College. Well I suppose I'd better pull my annual joke to soothe their shocked nerves. . . . I wonder how it is possible for me to smile at that one still. . . . For Goodness sake! will you look at that fellow in the fourth row laugh! Some farmer! But after all he deserves an A for that effort. I'll just make a note of that. . . . Wonder if they know anything about the lessons? Which reminds me, just what is the lesson? Well the easiest way to find out is to ask questions. Here goes. Just as I thought, I've been asked that question by all the half-wits for the last ten years and expect to hear it for twenty years more. . . Ah! I see the shining light of that intellectual circle is working an inspiration. . . duck, it's coming!. . . Whew! he spent two hours preparing that one and I had to hand him a line for five minutes until I thought out the right answer. I suppose he deserves an A, but I feel like giving him a nice broad E. Now for a few questions of my own. . . Same old stall. Didn't understand what I said. He ought to know that the bell won't ring for fifteen minutes yet. But why bother him about the lesson, we'll try another. . . . Hurrah, there goes the bell. And just where is my class? No wonder we have such good college sprinters in America!! Well I don't blame them, I feel the need of a good smoke myself.

AND LOVE IS BLIND

Mae: Nig dear, it will be all right. Mother at least is on our side.

Nig: What makes you think so?

Mae: Well, I heard her tell Papa not to judge too much by appearances.

ESPECIALLY AN INGERSOLL

It is an insult for a student to take out his watch during a lecture, but it is the ultimate insult when he holds the watch to his ear to see if it has stopped running.

Why They Are Called Juniors

Whitman: An element like air is called a mixture.

Oyer: The island of Britain is surrounded by water.

Noll: (describing her new scarf) Girls it's a peach! It has a border round the edge and the center is in the middle.

Edna Baker: (in Biology) Look at my drawing. The tadpole is beginning to look human.

Sus Greiner: I used to be a fluent typewriter.

Dot Mancha: He had nothing but a sword, and he was unarmed.

Floss: I'd like a dress of a dark shade of white.

Mabel: A frog is a bug with four legs. It stands up in front.

Fat Martin: (working calculus) This problem is absolutely insoluble.

SUNG BY A FRESHIE

When I came to L. V.
They sold me
A chapel seat,
And the radiator
In my room,
A hymn book,
An a locker in
The Gym.
They took my cheek
And laughed at me,
But I fooled them—
Since I hadn't
Any money in
The bank.

OUT FOR TRACK

Fake: You left the water running.

Adams: Good. It needs the exercise.

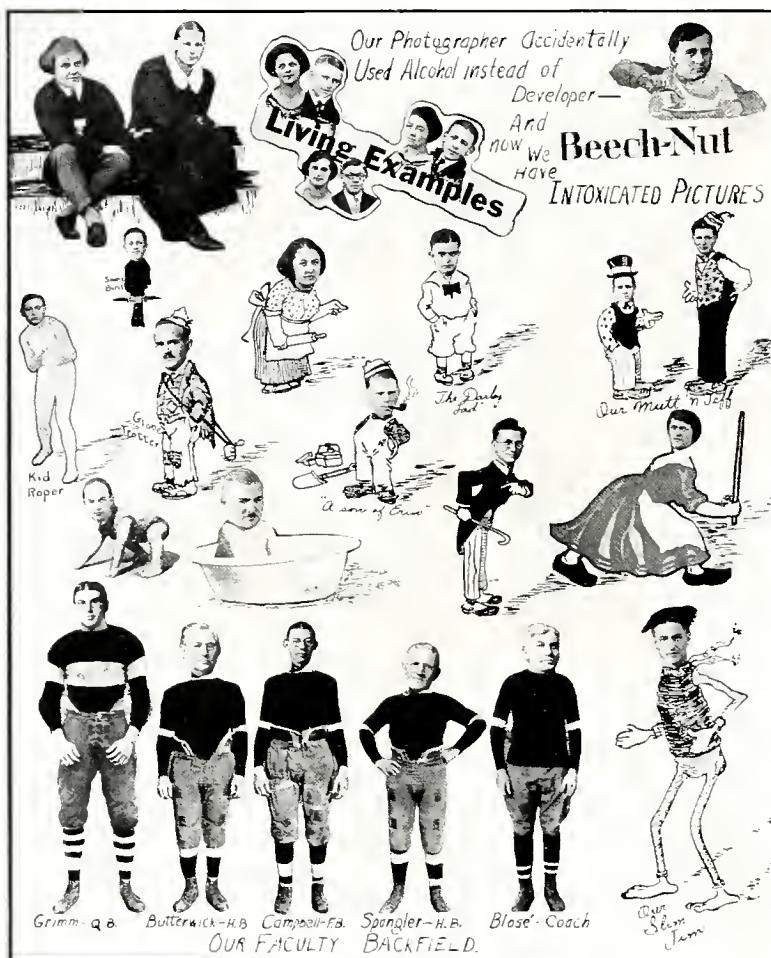

AUTO-ETIQUETTE

Nitramer: Have an accident?

Bachman: No thanks. Just had one.

Brilliant Frosh: I'll have to go over and write a theme on Sheats and Kelly for English 12.

"A college education teaches you so many things you couldn't begin to mention them all—not in polite society."

Library Rules (Revised Edition)

1. When entering leave the door wide open.
2. Don't come into the Library to study, it's not expected of you.
3. All persons should talk loud to obtain a good effect.
4. If you see any book you would like, help yourself; take it without having it recorded, don't be bashful. You may not get another chance.
5. Keep all books as long as you desire. No one else wants them.
6. Don't read the dictionary or encyclopedia, they're too light and frivolous. Anyone can comprehend them, even the Freshman Class. Be more intellectual, read the funny magazines and jokes.
7. Don't abuse the chairs by sitting on them. What do you suppose the tables are for?

AND WITHOUT HYMN BOOKS

Scene: Church

Time: June morning

Outside, crickets chirping loudly.—inside choir rendering anthem.
She: Isn't it wonderful?

He: Yes, and to think that they do it with their hind legs.

BE SHARP TO GET THIS ONE

Prof. Hoke (in Education 42): Do you see the point in the question, "How many angels can dance on the point of a needle?"

Stabley: No, but I'll bet they could feel it.

SUGGESTIONS TO FRESHMEN FOR LITERARY SOCIETY

ANNIVERSARIES

1. It is a rule of the school that all ladies be accompanied by men. (Be sociable.)
2. To keep down expenses, fellows may wear gingham shirts and overalls. (Be economical.)
3. Buy one dozen sunflowers, delivered on a wheelbarrow. (Be liberal.)
4. Buy a fifty cent box of lolly pops reduced to thirty-nine cents. (Be a sport.)
5. Don't make your lady friend do all the talking. (Be entertaining.)

Memories

Of all my college life, to me
There's one lesson that is the dearest.
Of all my thrilling escapades,
This one to me the clearest.
I've enjoyed a laugh in Gingrich's class
In Enrope I've followed Beatty,
Under Grimm I've worked with machinery
And Hardman taught me "Katty",
I've crammed tangents, functions and sines
And rattled French like a parrot,
But of all the lessons you can define
To none can I compare it.—
'Tis just one sentence, Stay! It's a bargain!
"Most men want poise and more royal margin."

IT'S TWO YEARS' GROWTH AT THAT

Krause: Why are all the Senior fellows growing mustaches?
Nig: Because the one who has grown the longest mustache by Commencement gets a prize.
Krause: Then Williard shouldn't be counted, because his looks like a Bolshevik to begin with.

THE MORNING AFTER

Frock: Hey, Old Top! Its fifteen to nine.
Izzy: (sleepily) Wait till it's even money and bet it all.

ANOTHER SUCKER BITES

Scene: Boyer's Auction Sale.
Auctioneer (to Nigrelli): Do you know the difference between a bank, a piano and a beehive?
Nig.: Naw!
A.: The bank takes notes and the piano gives notes.
Nig.: Aha, but how about the beehive?
A.: Yes, that's where you get stung!

WHY NOT AN OMELET?

What did you do with all the presents you got?
Speaker in Chapel: Made lemonade of them.

NO EFFORT

Prof. Butterwick: Wake Mr. Wolfe will you? He's sleeping.
Kessler: You put him to sleep, you waken him.

Like Father, Like Son

When I went to college twenty five years ago, I played the mandolin and spent three hundred a year; now I have a son who spends three thousand and plays the ukelele. When I took a girl to a dance I hired a hack for fifty cents; now my boy writes that he thinks he will leave school because he can't find a garage for his car near enough to the Dormitory.

We used to carry a keg seven miles into the country to have a party; Jim says one of the fellows can carry enough for the crowd without wrinkling the tail of his coat.

I expected to go to work after I was through and pay back the money my father had lent me. My boy says he is going to look around for a year or two. He doesn't want to be rushed into anything not worthy of his talents.

But when the ball is on the five yard line with one minute to play, I guess Jim and I up there in the grand stand are pretty much the same.

A HOT JOB

Prof. Beatty, speaking of the miracle play, revealed to us this secret: "The work of production of these plays was divided among those guilds to which it was best adapted. For instance, the Bakers were given the Lord's Supper, the Carpenters were given Noah's Ark, the Blacksmiths were given Hell,—

The funniest thing in the Boys Dorm is La Pointe trying to say something and Peg Ulrich trying to tell him how to sa-sa-sa-say it.

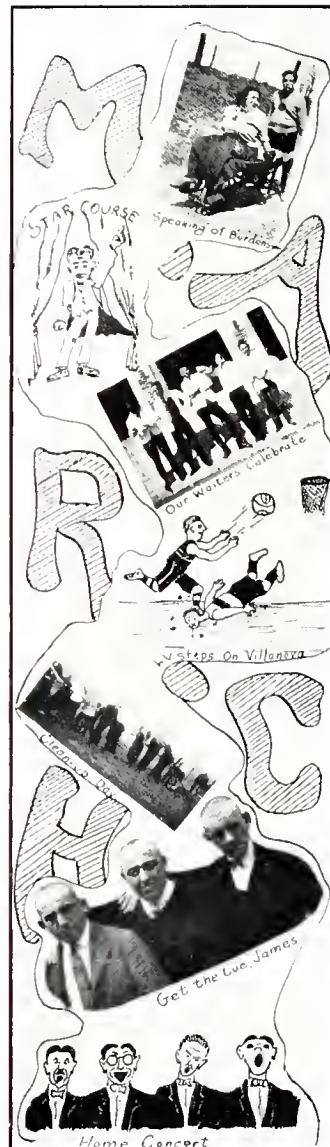

While tying his shoe string yesterday, Charles Dando rested his foot on his wife's best chair.—He would have been 30 years old next Tuesday.

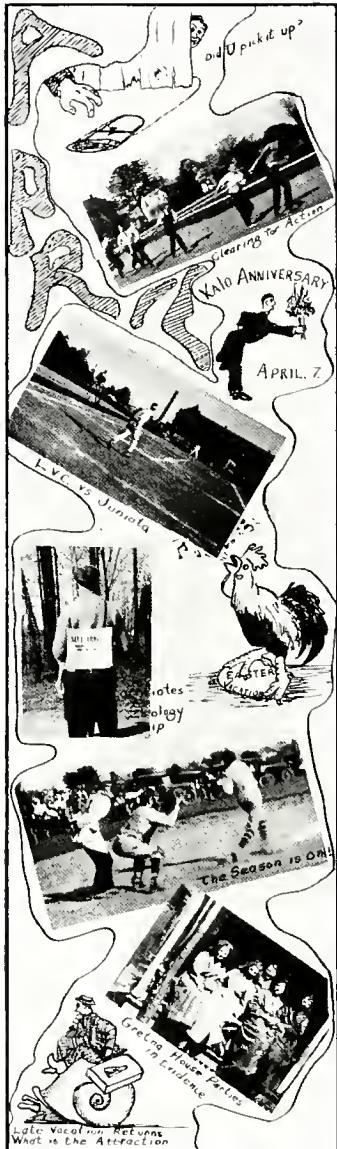

Prof. Gingrich (assigning lesson in Economics): We will have consumption the next time.

The Calendar

MARCH

- 1.—Comes in like a lion.
- 3.—The Weather man gives the new staff a cool reception. Even the heating plant broke down to add to the burden.
- 4.—Varsity defeats Penn Junior Varsity. Score 18 to 17.
- 5.—Skovgaard the Danish Violinist entertained even the gallery gods. Music hath charms to soothe the savage breast!
- 11.—L. V. defeats Moravian. Atta boy!
- 16.—After their long wanderings the prodigal "Rah-Rah Boys" give their home concert. They are angels in their own home town.
- 17.—L. V. vs. Villanova. Same old story.
- 18.—Exodus of children of L. V. across country to Red Lion.
- 22.—The Rape of the Lock. Chief Characters, Anna Mae and Ipse. Who was the acting barber?
- 25.—St. Patrick's Party. All Saints had a good time, even Reuel Swank.
- 28.—Eurydicee Coneert. The Lost Chord was found.
- 30.—Major Swan's lecture was well attended.
- 31.—Goes out like a lamb.

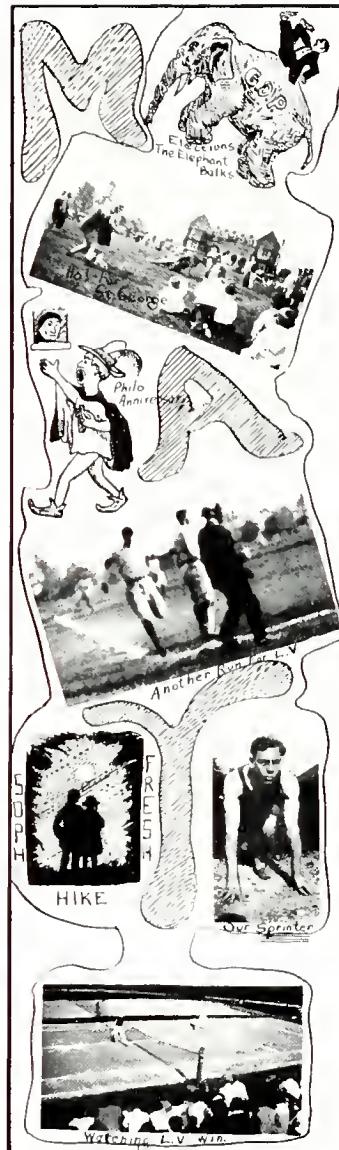

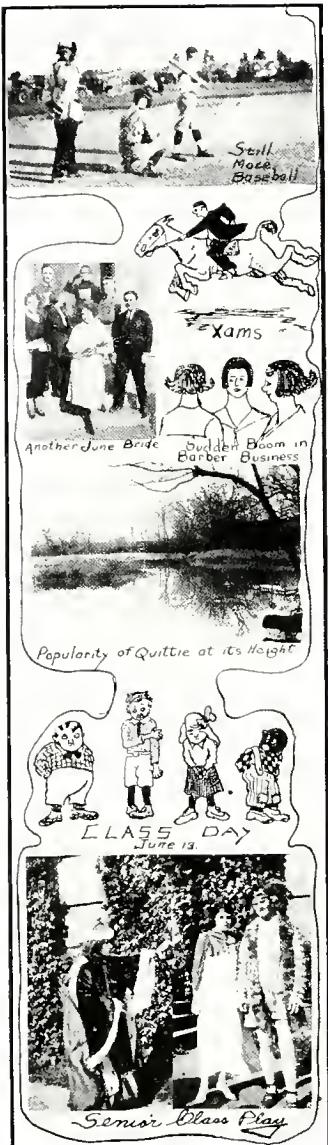

APRIL

- 1.—Everybody shines. April Fool!
- 5.—Adam Geibel's Recital a treat.
- 7.—Kalozetean Anniversary. "Everyman" held everyman spellbound.
- 8.—Girls slept on balcony, some were moonstruck.
- 9.—Big excitement—wild shooting—faculty meeting;—all because Shadel had a girl from West Chester.
- 10.—Obliging Claude Rupp even fell in the Quittie trying to show "West Chester" a good time.
- 12.—Home again to buy our Easter Bonnet.
- 17.—Relnetant Returns. Signs of Spring.
- 22.—Girls have house party at Gretna. Lola and Hostetter return early to-er-a-study!
- 27.—Judge Henry spoke in Chapel.
- 29.—Zoology Class hike to Mt. Gretna. Ambitious Jay Arnold as Undertaker for the day undertook to haul Miss Durbin on a wheelbarrow.

MAY

- 5.—Philo Anniversary. The new version of "Romeo and Juliet" made Shakespeare turn green with envy.
- 6.—Annual May Day Commotion. All rules off!
- 9.—Prof. Grimm accompanied by several other L. V. financiers visits New York to invest in several thousand dollars worth of Motors Stock.
- 11.—Freshman Sophomore Hike to Water Works. Walter Wolf shines. Gingrich had no classes today.
- 12.—Senior Recital. The couples lost their way over to the conservatory, and lonely wanderers did not again find shelter until the wee wee hours.
- 21.—Pearl Seitz sports a man. Field glasses were in evidence at every window.
- 22.—Girls sentenced for using fire escapes when the building was not even burning. Oh Liberty, what crimes are committed in thy name!
- 30.—Not new for the most of us,—a walk to the cemetery. Fake felt at home with the lemonade.

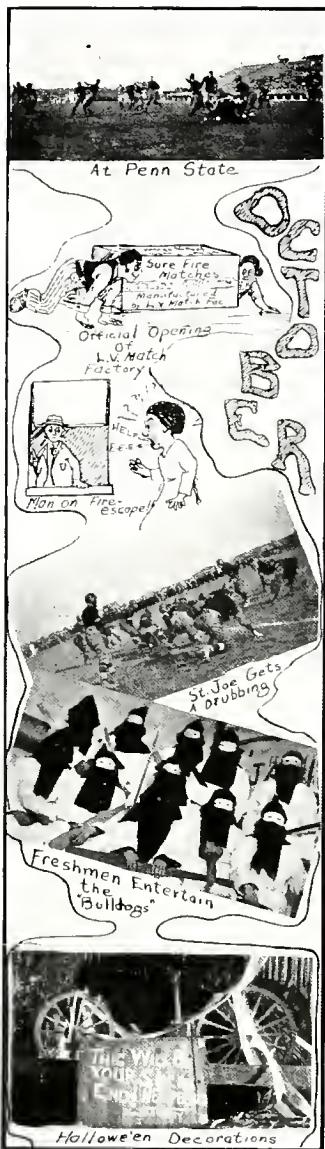

JUNE

- 2.—Seniors entertained by the Literary Societies. We're sorry to see them leave.
- 5.—Final squizz. To flunk or not to flunk—that is the question.
- 8.—Mrs. Gossard entertains the Seniors.
- 9.—Board of Trustees came for a hearty meal.
- 11.—Baccalaureate Exercises. Final visit to old haunts along the Quittie.
- 12.—The Conservatory Students graduate.
- 13.—Senior's last public performance. June the month of flowers finds Mr. and Mrs. Orin Farrel, of '21 at L. V. to spend their honeymoon.
- 13.—Fifty-fifth Annual Commencement Senior Class Play.
- 14.—Tears all over nothing and all.

SEPTEMBER

- 18.—Gathering of the sheep for the slaughter.
- 19.—General once over and registration of disgust.
- 20.—Chapel at 11:00 o'clock. Faculty all present.
- 21.—Busy day! Freshmen win Class Scrap. Scrub Glee Club tryout. Bright prospects for the year!!
- 22.—Girls Death League on the rampage.
- 23.—Dress up Freshman parade. Advanced Winter Models. First meeting of the Literary Societies.
- 24.—Annual Students Deception. Hands, eyes and hearts meet.
- 25.—Only perfect church attendance of the year.
- 26.—Sophomore hike. Weik doesn't believe in casting bread upon the waters. Free for all!!
- 28.—Senior, Junior and Freshman Hikes. All had a good time while the Sophs stayed at home to "clean up."
- 30.—Varsity Football team played West Point. 0-12. We'll beat them the next time.

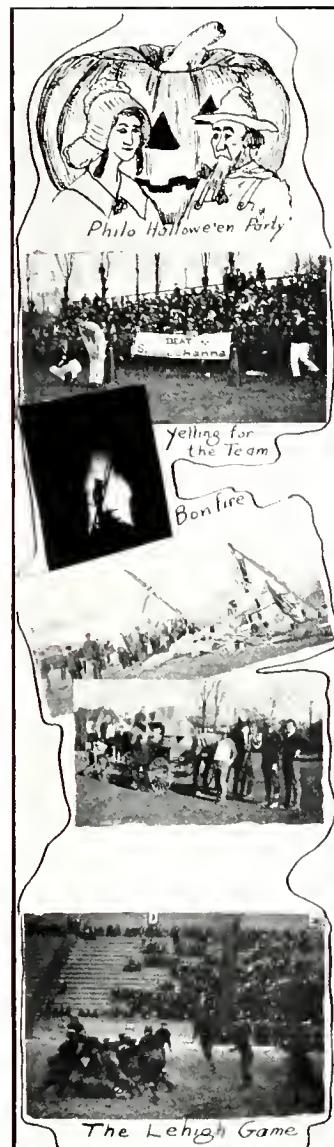

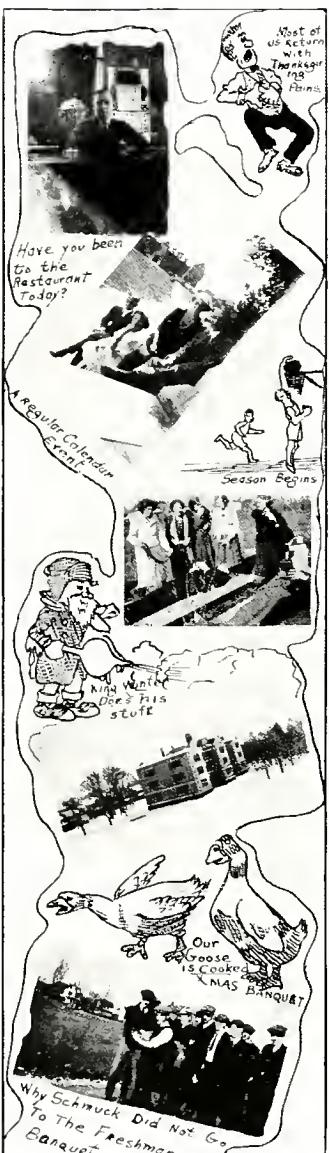

OCTOBER

- 4.—Through injury Diek has the use of only one arm,—but Dick is efficient in all things. K. Balsbaugh and Skipper went walking—to the Post Office.
- 6.—Every one enjoys Sir Edward Baxter Perry's Concert. Man on the fire escape!! Big excitement! Hysterical searches for revolvers, hat pins and other weapons!!
- 8.—L. V. vs. Georgetown. 6-19.
- 14.—Opening of Match Factory. How the sparks did fly!! Where is your flame?
- 16.—Tug of War. Same old Quittie,
Same old rope,
Sophs may beat them,
But Frosh have hope.
Juniors entertain Frosh. Sophs entertain Seniors.
- 17.—Student Recital. "Red" and Krause are bawled out.
- 19.—Miss Bamberger spoke in chapel. She was fine.
- 20.—Delphian-Philo Joint Session.
Clio-Kalo Joint Session.
- 25.—Some new cases develop. For instance, Stambaugh and Newcomer.
- 26.—Were the Freshmen boys dressed for a Masquerade?
- 31.—Halloween Parade in Lebanon. All who went had a good time, including the boys.

NOVEMBER

- 1.—Chapel decorated by some of our artistic geniuses. Method in their madness —no chapel.
- 2.—In Economics, Beek was the dormant partner of Gingrich, Beek, Beattie & Co. He played his part well.
- 4.—L. V. vs. Juniata at Lebanon. 59-6. "Lebanon Valley's winning now—Juniata's learning how."
- 5.—Philo Hallowe'en Party. All the Cys, Petes, Johns, Sadies and Lillys had a good time chewing the rag. "Hutch" C. C. and "Stabe" vie with Valentino for popularity as Screen Artists.
- 7.—J. Stitt Wilson lectures to student body. Some missed their one o'clock classes.
- 9.—Skipper says we may use the new chairs in the Dining Hall.
- 13.—A holiday. What say, Freshmen? At 7:00 P. M. Freshmen labors went up in smoke. Reidel was desperate. He went to the bonfire with a gun and captured a girl by sheer force of arms.
- 15.—Rules off for the boys. General inspection of Match Factory products.
- 18.—Two truck loads of students accompany the team to Lehigh. Homeward trip rather slushy. Where did we hear about "When Knighthood Was in Flower."
- 20.—Star Course Number. Doctor Blose did not feel well.
- 24.—Clonian Anniversary was very unique and interesting.
- 25.—Last game of the season. "Battlefield Boys" defeat the Varsity, 15-0.

DECEMBER

- 5.—Everything gobbled, all return. We hear that the Junior Play is east. All consoled by the fact that everyone may be in the mob scene.
- 6.—William Sterling Battis entertains at Star Course.
Williard (to Roper) : Have you asked a girl to Star Course yet?
Roper: I don't have any, and besides, she wouldn't go with me if I did.
- 7.—Upon being asked why the Faculty went to Lebanon at 11:00 A. M. some one replied: "It was the first time all the Faculty were present at Chapel so they decided to celebrate.
- 8.—Philo-Clio Joint Session. The Ku Klux Klan program was great.
- 9.—Tiny Hughes condescends to join us again.
- 13.—Preparation for the Xmas Banquet in full swing. Who will you sit with?
- 14.—Four o'clock Banquet served at six o'clock
"The jokes were as old as the setting sun,
But we didn't care we had lots of fun."
- 15.—Delphian-Kalo Joint Session. Meeting of the Faculty—survival of the fittest.
- 16.—Home to Mamma and Santa Claus.

JANUARY

- 2.—"Returned Empties", New Year Dis-illusions.
- 4.—Classes begin.
- 11.—Sir Edward Baxter Perry gives us an interesting lecture on "The Lost Atlantis".
- 12.—L. V. Scrub Basketball Team vs. Shippensburg S. N., More play less talk.
- 16.—The Messiah Oratorio.
- 17.—L. V. Girls Varsity vs. Harrisburg Independents, 12-37. Boys have open house. They are all model housekeepers.
- 20.—Dinek for dinner. Who said our goose was cooked!
- 23.—Another Star Course Number—The Harmony Entertainers.
- 26.—Dr. Knapp speaks in chapel. Student night at revival services.
- 27.—At Junior Class Meeting:
 1st Jr: I nominate Bachman for treasurer.
 2nd Jr: I second the nomination.
 Bachman: I move the nominations be closed.
- 28.—Coasting is fine—moon is full—company is pleasant. Who would wish for more.
- 29.—Senior Class Meeting. All members present were nominees for offices,—no tellers.
- 30.—Beginning of cramming, cribbing, crying and crowning.

FEBRUARY

- 1.—Eurydice at last goes to Lebanon to have picture taken. Everyone digs out dusty books and takes notes.
- 2.—Mrs. Blose discusses honor system in chapel. Beck guarantees a better opposition the next time, if fair warning is given.
- 3.—Exams end. Everyone sick. Moral: Exams are not good for one's constitution. "Second Semester Vacation" begins.
- 6.—Second Semester Registration. How many yards of red tape were unwound?
- 7.—Junior Play Cast busy practicing.
- 8.—Mr. Fisher spoke in chapel.
- 10.—Delphian Hall scrubbed by lovely maidens. "Be Prepared," must be their motto.
- 13.—L. V. vs. Moravian, 34-14.
- 15.—Dr. Pearson speaks in the eleven o'clock chapel period.
- 16.—Delphian Anniversary. Well rendered, well attended, well enjoyed.
- 19.—Football Banquet. Man on fire-escape. Did Lanster run after the man or the girls?
- 20.—Scene painting and face smearing for the Junior Play.
Lost: Lines, tempers and heads.
- 22.—The Cast learns what real work is. "Pillars of Society" upheld by the Juniors for the first time.
- 23.—Second performance a perfect success. Three cheers for Prof. Beatty.
- 26.—Star Course. Mary Potter charmed the audience.
- 28.—Aw, we're tired keeping this Calendar. But—

We've done our best to make it clear
What we as students have done this year,
But our deeds were so many, it's hard to place
Such great events in so little a space.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Rhodes Stabley (nee K. B.) spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Stabley (nee G. F.).

Mrs. Benton Smith departed for Reno sometime this morning. She expects to join her husband there. During the past few years Miss Sara Greiner has been busily engaged in making divers articles for her "hobby chest." She says while there's life, there's hope. She's alive but—

Miss Dorothy Mancha is at present representing the No-Wind Victrola Co. She gives personal demonstrations. Miss Maryellen Thomas' new painting is now being shown in the Annville Museum. The picture needs no description—the title of it is "The Bee's Knees." At present she is at work on a sketch which she expects to call "The Bear's Purr."

Miss Cynthia Drummond, the famous novelist, is at present at work on a historical novel entitled "The Lure of Living" or "The Lost Laprobe." The public anxiously awaits its issue.

Miss Esther Gilbert, star of the Cosmopolitan Opera Co. is suffering from a nervous breakdown, due to the falling of a pin in the audience to which she was performing. William Weiser who is still a student at L. V. C. was severely pinched for speeding in Prof. Gingrich's Economics Class. "Asleep again."

JUNIOR CLASS PAYS DUES

SENSATIONAL ELOPEMENT!

Miss Rachel Heindel, an attractive young school-teacher of Red Lion, and David Pink, prominent doughboy of Annville, were the principal figures in a well-planned and well-executed elopement. Their marriage was the culmination of a romance which started when both were students at L. V. C. Elkton, Md., was the town to which they fled. The bride's father readily forgave the runaway couple. This occurrence was a great surprise to all their friends. We wish them many happy returns of the day.

MARYAN MATUSZAK, NOTED SCIENTIST,
MARKS WORLD REVOLUTIONIZING

DISCOVERY

Maryan Matuszak, the world-famous scientist, author of a book on knitting, made a discovery by accident which will completely change a certain phase of man's work. While he was experimenting with a new design on crochet work, his hand chanced to fall upon a tatting outfit—and behold, he was crocheting with one hand and tatting with the other. He is now editing a series of articles which are appearing in "The Man's Home Journal." It is expected that this discovery will be a blessing to mankind.

EDITORIAL

Editor—Fred Lauster
His only wife—Dora B. Lauster
Only son—Rudolph Valentino Lauster

What changes do we note in the world round about us! Time was when we men used to have independent minds—but now! The wife is the Grand Exalted and we must bow to the yoke. What brought this change of conditions you ask? Truly it is nothing more than a physical phenomena which is

Family Theatre

Walter Wolfe, Mgr., Henry Hoffman Inc. presents the "Infomel Triangle" starring Poete Wolfe supported by Mario Weiss and Molly Moran. This play has been running in New York for the last three months, and had a very successful end. Almost $30.00 in cabbages was realized at the last performance.

Anville Hippodrome

Ez. Hopple, Mgr.

The Daring Dasher Co. presents their highest salaried star, Ricardo Staniero in his stupendous million dollar success entitled "My Girls," supported by a brilliant hevy of bathing beauties. Admission, $1.00 a couple. Single ladies, 75c

TWO FAMOUS STARS VISIT L. V. C.
Charles Leber, the Keith Circuit headliner, and his co-star, Miss Idia Trout visited L. V. C. and gave the students very interesting talks. Mr. Leber spoke on the subject "Why I did not marry a follies girl." The reason was made very apparent. Miss Trout gave a delightful discourse. "How to be fair, though fat and forty." Their stay was not a lasting one.

SPECIAL DEDICATION AT L. V. C.

Special services were held at L. V. C. the first Sunday of the third week of October to change the name of the Eagle Conservatory to Sing Sing. Many petitions were sent in requesting this change and the authorities kindly consented to their demand.

CRIMINAL COURT CONVENES — NOTED DIVORCE CASE THE FIRST TO BE TRIED

Mrs. Mildred Tracey Fay Wagner nee Mil dred Kroidor, the central figure in one of the most famous divorce cases ever tried in American courts, appeared in court today looking younger and more beautiful than ever. Mr. L. Wagner, the famous young Attorney, her last and least husband was, of course, present as was Tracey, the manne facturer of the new "Spin Kix" Mildred, her first husband. After a long session Mr. Wagner was granted a divorce with an alimony of ten dollars per year. Directly after the divorce papers were signed the beautiful divorcee married her first husband all over again.

A sermon on the subject "Why Men Leave Home" will be given at L. V. in the near future by Miss Edna Parker, D. D., LL. D. Ferdinand Beck, Football Coach at Hurrah College was unable to perambulate out to the football grounds due to an injury received from his wife's rolling pin.

PART OF L. V. C. GAMER'S CHOSEN FOR SUIT OF A WODERS MOTT

At a meeting of the Board of Trustees it was unanimously decided that a small portion of the Campus shall be leased to Mr. Gladstone Cooley who wishes to erect upon it the now "Gritty Parlton." It will be the only thing of its kind on the L. V. Campus. Mr. Cooley said he expected to reserve two large ballrooms for the numerous fraternity and sorority dances at L. V. throughout the year.

In a recent Beauty Contest held by local newspapers of Annville, Benton Smith was chosen as the best looking male. They expect to feature him in a 2 reel comedy entitled "Dots and Dashes." Congratulations and success to you, Bent!

Heard In the Class Room

Biecher: I pigeon-holed that paper, Prof, but I forgot the pigeon in which I put it.

In Pol Si: I read a piece in the paper this morning stating that Shamokin was so dry last Saturday that they had to import two truck loads of beer from Sunbury. The peculiar part about this, is the fact that it was the day after our Glee Club left Shamokin.

Miss Seltzer: I want to see you get ninety in this examination.

Yake: So do I, let's pull together.

Prof. Bender: Does everyone understand what is meant by the chemistry deposits each student must make?

Brilliant Economics Stude: It's an example of the law of diminishing returns.

Hoke: (in Education) It is a fact that the minds of some students become a blank when given an examination.

Renn: Yes! And some stay blank when given an exam.

"There goes cheese and crackers" some one yelled as Sweitzer and McCracken marched out of chapel.

"Somebody said she is so talkative that when she wishes to think, she must rest her chin on her hands to keep her mouth shut so that she doesn't interrupt herself.

"Hey don't you know this is a reservoir? You ain't allowed to take a bath here."

"That's all right, Mithter, Ah ain't usin' no thope.

We, the 1924 Quittapahilla Staff, have chosen this as a stopping place in the long list of humor which was gathered by our Humor Editor during the term. We regret that there is not space enough to publish all the jokes we have received. Yet we have done our best to choose those which are most characteristic and original. Judge them as you see fit, remembering that no humor should be taken too seriously.

We take this last opportunity to say good-bye, and wish to express our sincere appreciation for the cooperation of the student body, which made this volume possible. There is one more request we make, and that is

HEARD AT THE JUNIOR PLAY

Prof. Beatty: I'll shoot Krap if it happens again.

Cooley: What shall I do, Lena?

Lena: Stand over there and be a pane to the window.

Beck: After the Play let's give Beatty a Ramma-Zamma for the team.

Martin: I'm all unstrung. I've forgotten my lines.

Cooley and Dora acted their part so naturally that Prof. Beatty became frightened and insisted that Cooley act as if he were not so accustomed to it.

Bobby Yake was very nervous fearing he would forget his lines but otherwise he was quite a star.

Prof. Beatty: Now be sure and don't get nervous even when your knees are shaking.

FINK'S BAKERY, Annville, Pa.

The Home of everything in baked products that spells quality.

Hungry: Gee, Sneak! Where did you get the black eye?

Sneak: I was chasin' Al Stine and I caught him.

Pearl: I swear I have never been kissed.

Pete: That's enough to make anybody swear.
